BRITISH PLAN TO KEEP PORT OF HONGKONG

Spokesman Says Britain Has Not Agreed To Chinese Occupation Of City

SOONG TO VISIT LONDON

Premier Of China Expected To Discuss Touchy Topics With English Leaders

LONDON, Aug. 23—A spokesman of the British foreign office said today that Britain "definitely has not agreed that the Chinese shall occupy Hongkong."

The spokesman's statement was in reply to announcement by the Chungking government that its forces would reoccupy the British crown colony.

The foreign office spokesman said Britain would be "glad" to have Chinese associated with the British in the reoccupation but "it happens to be a British colony."

In response to inquiries the foreign office spokesman agreed that Hongkong was actual, in the Chinese theatre of operations.

Premier T. V. Soong will return to London soon for discussions which are expected to include the status of Hongkong, it was learned today.

It was understood that Soong might return to London early next week to confer with Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin.

Soong's discussions were expected to take up possibility of three power action in an effort to avert an outbreak of civil war in China.

The British attitude on Hongkong is touchy and there is evidence of a disagreement between Britain on the one hand and China and the United States on the other.

Bevin has told the house of commons that the United States and China have agreed that Hongkong remain its status as a crown colony after its liberation. However, there is evidence that this is an oversimplification, at least, of the American-Chinese viewpoint.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said Hongkong would be discussed by the council of foreign ministers next month but the foreign office averred that it didn't know anything about this.

A foreign office spokesman also professed "amazement" at reports that some 6,000 French troops are standing by in South China to march into French Indo-China. The spokesman said the French are not "in physical position" to take over Indo-China and that this must be a joint job for the Chinese and the southeast Asia command.

Abdication Of Puppet Ruler Ends All Traces Of Nip Control Of Country

LONDON, Aug. 23—The abdication of Emperor Kang Teh and dissolution of his government wiped out the last vestiges of Japan's puppet empire of Manchuria today.

Red Army air-borne troops only yesterday had won the last two objectives of the two-week Russian campaign in Manchuria—the warm-water ports of Dairen and Port Arthur at the tip of the Kwantung peninsula.

A broadcast from Changchun, capital of Manchuria, reported the abdication of Kang Teh, the former "boy emperor" of China Henry Pu Yi, and the fall of his government.

The retiring 39-year-old emperor issued a formal proclamation to his 60,000,000 former subjects explaining that he had given up his empire out of "concern for your future welfare and happiness," the broadcast said.

Earlier, Soviet radio stations reported that Kang Teh had been in (Continued on Page Two)

American And Chinese May Now Enter City To Plan Surrender

CHUNGKING, Aug. 23—Japanese military chiefs informed Chinese and American officials today it was now safe for them to enter Nanking to prepare for the formal surrender of more than 1,000,000 Japanese troops in China.

Gen. Yasuja Okamura, supreme commander of Japanese forces in China, assured the Chungking government that he would recognize only an authorized representative of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and requested further surrender instructions.

Okamura's representative, Maj. Gen. Takeo Imai, having concluded preliminary surrender discussions with the Chinese at Chinkiang, was scheduled to return to Nanking today.

It was believed certain that the formal signing of the capitulation would take place at Nanking, present seat of a Japanese puppet government and former capital of the Chinese administration.

However, the Chiang government withheld any definite statement as to time or place of the formal surrender pending completion (Continued on Page Two)

KAISER SEEKING LEASE OF IDLE MICHIGAN PLANT

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 23—Henry J. Kaiser, west coast industrialist, withheld comment today on reports that he and Joseph Frazer were negotiating with the government to lease the former Ford plant at Willow Run, Mich., for automobile production.

Sen. Homer R. Ferguson, R., Mich., had said "The RFC is interested in leasing the plant and I have every reason to believe that the offer of Kaiser and Frazer will go through."

Ferguson said the Willow Run plant was not "an expendable tool of war."

"It would be a gross mistake to let the $96,000,000 investment and 69 acres of modern production facilities be charged off as a war loss," Ferguson said.

The Michigan senator said negotiations between the Kaiser-Frazer Corp. and the government probably would be concluded soon because "all parties concerned want to get this thing going."

Ferguson is touring the west with the Mead Investigating Committee.

Red Cross Representatives To Visit Camps At Once To Aid Evacuation

MANILA, Aug. 23—The Allies announced plans today for the speedy evacuation of 32,000 prisoners and internees from Japan to the Philippines and confirmed that contact had been established, presumably in Manchuria, with Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright.

Allied nationals, including 7,000 Americans and 14,000 British, will be repatriated from Japan by air and sea as rapidly as their health permits, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced.

An international Red Cross delegation radioed MacArthur from Tokyo that its representatives and delegates from the Swiss and Swedish legations will proceed tomorrow to the seven main war prisoner camps in Japan to assist in the evacuation of inmates to embarkation points.

BAINBRIDGE MAN RECEIVES AWARD FROM PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—President Truman personally welcomed 28 American fighting men into the nation's hall of heroes today.

In the crowded East room of the White House, the chief executive solemnly fastened the congressional medal of honor, the nation's supreme award for valor, about the necks of 24 heroes from the war in Europe and four from the Pacific battle fronts.

More than 300 mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts—many of them awed and noticeably nervous—sat quietly in the chandeliered East room of the executive mansion as the World War II heroes stepped up to the President one by one, saluted and stood stiffly at attention.

Maj. Gen. Edward F. Witsell, acting adjutant general of the U. S. Army, slowly read the citations relating the heroic battle episodes for which each won the coveted award.

Three companies of German infantry and a dozen enemy tanks started a furious counterattack on November 12, near Kerling, France, when T/Sgt. Forrest E. Everhart's platoon had been whittled down to only four men. The 23-year-old Bainbridge, O., hero led the platoon in beating off the attack.

252 WAR PLANTS NOW 'SURPLUS'

Army Supply Factories Cost $1,484,352,337; Navy To Give Up 134 Others

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—The Army today declared surplus 252 government-owned plants costing an estimated $1,484,352,337 and the navy was getting ready to do the same with 134 other plants.

These facilities will become available for purchase or lease by private industry and will help considerably in providing the additional facilities needed to achieve the tremendous postwar industrial program envisioned by the administration.

The War Production Board already has modified its construction control order to permit industrial building which may reach an estimated total of $4,500,000,000. WPB, however, has not yet relaxed its restrictions over private home construction, commercial and governmental building but it is under great pressure by industry to do so.

Truman, DeGaulle Off To Good Start On Talks To Improve Relations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—Gen. Charles DeGaulle and President Truman were reported off to a good start today in their efforts to inaugurate an era of better American-French relations.

The two chiefs of state held a long personal conference at the White House last night, shortly after DeGaulle's arrival, and their staffs of specialists immediately went to work on mutual economic, political and military problems.

DeGaulle's social schedule for his first full day in Washington was held to a minimum so most of his time could be devoted to his mission.

DeGaulle and his aides will visit the unknown soldier's tomb in Arlington cemetery today and be guest of honor at a dinner tonight given by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. Sometime during his visit he is expected—as a year ago—to visit Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary force in World War I.

The objectives of the three-day state visit of the provisional French president were to re- cement badly tattered Franco-American relations, to win economic aid for lightening France's reconstruction burden, and to start France on the road back to big power status.

DeGaulle took the initiative in inaugurating what officials hope will be a new era. Gone was the coolness and hesitancy of a year ago when he visited President Roosevelt and sought recognition of the French committee of liberation as a provisional government.

The tall, sad-looking general began singing the praises of the United States as soon as he stepped from his plane late yesterday at The National airport. He conceded American leadership in the world and invited the United States to lead the way for France to follow.

DeGaulle paid glowing tribute to President Truman and to the man with whom his relations always were strained—the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. Without the American people and the leadership of those two presidents, he said, (Continued on Page Two)

EX-SAILOR HELD FOR STARTING DAMAGING FIRES

GLENDAL, Calif., Aug. 23—Psychiatrists today questioned former sailor Martin Russell Ryan who confessed to setting three fires because "I got a frenzied sexual satisfaction out of fire."

Officers arrested the 23-year-old Ryan, discharged from the Navy for psychoneurosis, after a $60,000 storage warehouse blaze. They remembered that he had a habit of being around after fires, flagging down police cars and offering aid.

"Flames have fascinated me ever since that torpedo hit my ship off Guam and I got caught in a great sheet of flame," Ryan told Los Angeles arson squad members.

"I find it difficult to arouse myself emotionally to women. On the night I set the warehouse fire I had picked up a girl, but she repulsed me. I got out of the car near this warehouse and sat thinking it over for a while," he explained to police.

"Then I threw a rock through a window and lighted a fire inside. I waited until the flames got going good and got complete emotional satisfaction watching them, after which I sent in an alarm and helped the firemen fight the fire."

PRELIMINARIES OVER IN TRIAL FOR QUISLING

OSLO, Aug. 23—The prosecution would up its preliminary questioning of former puppet premier Vidkun Quisling at his treason trial today and called 49 Norwegian and German witnesses to tell the story of Norway's betrayal.

First to take the stand was Berthard Bergfeld, a member of the German legation staff at Oslo. Through him, the prosecution hoped to link Quisling with the German naval attaché who allegedly helped the puppet leader take charge of the Norwegian defense ministry on the morning of the German invasion April 9, 1940.

Among the other 17 German witnesses summoned was a colonel-major who arrived in custody of American soldiers, and one woman. Thirty-one Norwegian witnesses were called, including two generals and three women.

Fifth Of Jap Cities 'Wiped Out'

Tokyo Says Allied Air Raids Killed 260,000 Nips; Total Casualties 10,000,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23—One fifth of Japan's more than 200 cities were "almost completely wiped out" in Allied air raids with a death toll of 260,000, radio Tokyo said today.

"Nearly 10,000,000 people—one-sixth of the population of the Japanese homeland—were killed, wounded or rendered homeless during the course of the war of greater East Asia," an official Domei news agency dispatch said. The broadcast was recorded here by United Press.

Japanese air defense general headquarters for the first time disclosed total raid casualty figures some 24 hours after announcements that 480,000 persons were killed, wounded or left homeless by two American atomic bombs.

Tokyo gave the following cumulative totals of raid casualties "according to figures so far available":

Killed—260,000, of whom 90,000 died from effects of the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki Aug. 6 and 9.

Wounded—412,000, including 180,000 atomic victims.

Homeless—9,200,000.

A total of 2,210,000 houses "completely demolished or burned down," and 90,000 partly damaged.

"These figures were still incomplete," Domei said, "and are likely to mount higher upon investigation."

"Out of 206 cities of Japan proper 44 have been almost completely wiped out, while 37 others including Tokyo lost over 30 per cent of their built up area."

"Almost the entire Japanese mainland received heavy damage as a result of the enemy air raids, except Akita, Yamagata, Shikawa, Nagano, Shiga, Kyoto, Nara, Shikane and Tottori prefectures, where damage was comparatively small."

ADDRESS GIVEN FOR LIBERATED JAP PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—Mail for prisoners of war and civilian internees held by Japan is now being dispatched from the United States to Manila by air.

The War Department said that under the new arrangement, delivery of this mail will be made either at Manila or at other points through which the liberated military and civilian personnel may pass en route back to the United States.

The mail should be addressed as follows:

Name of addressee.
(Rank and serial number for military personnel).
Liberated personnel section.
APO 501, c/o Postmaster.
San Francisco, Calif.

Heretofore, mail for Americans held by the Japanese had been transported by air via Teheran and also by surface vessels from the west coast through Soviet ports.

HERSHEY SAYS JOB GUARANTEE ENDS WITH WAR

BOSTON, Aug. 23—The guarantee to war veterans of their right to return to their peacetime jobs will end with official termination of the war. Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said last night.

Hershey said that the provisions of the selective service act guaranteeing draftees their old jobs were passed by congress "for what was thought to be a year's training period."

Unless there is additional legislation, Hershey said, the sections of selective service concerning job return will "be abolished automatically when congress terminates hostilities."

Section 8 of the selective service act provides that any one who leaves his job, which is not of a temporary nature, to enter training under the draft act shall, upon completion of such training and service, be restored to such position or to a position of like seniority and wages provided he is qualified to do so and unless there is a drastic change in the employer's circumstances.

SUGAR STAMP 38 BECOMES VALID ON SEPTEMBER 1

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—Sugar stamp 38 in ration book four will become valid Sept. 1. Office of Price Administration announced today.

It will be good for five pounds of sugar until Dec. 31, 1945.

The current sugar stamp, No. 36, becomes invalid Aug. 31.

OPA is continuing the current ration rate of five pounds of sugar every four months because of a shortage of supplies. No improvement for civilians is expected this year. Stocks are lower now than they have been for ten years.

FIVE CHANGES IN SURRENDER TERMS ASKED

Tokyo Radio Tells Public 50,000 To 60,000 Troops To Arrive Next Week

NIMITZ TO SIGN FOR U. S.

MacArthur To Sign Document As Supreme Commander; Other Developments

MANILA, Aug. 23—Tokyo formally asked for five revisions in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's surrender orders today and told the Japanese people that 50,000 to 60,000 Allied occupation troops would land in the capital area next week alone.

MacArthur's forces ultimately will seize control of all Japan's strategic centers "with decisive armed strength," radio Tokyo said.

Japanese imperial headquarters broadcast in rapid succession five requests to MacArthur for changes in the surrender orders effective tomorrow immobilizing ships in Japanese home waters and requiring those at sea to head for Allied ports.

The five requests were for permission to:

1. Continue railway ferry services with unarmed, especially-marked vessels between Aomori and Hakodate, Uno and Takamatsu, and Odawara and Wakanai for communications and transportation to carry out the surrender terms.
2. Leave in operation within Japanese waters some motor sailing vessels of more than 100 tons which, without radio equipment, may not receive the immobilization order.
3. Send a transport to Minamitori island with food supplies, since current supplies will be "completely exhausted" by Sunday. The transport would bring back sick and wounded.
4. Send two hospital ships with food and medical supplies to isolated garrisons on various South Pacific islands.
5. Allow Japanese ships at sea to communicate with the Allies on frequencies other than those prescribed by MacArthur since Japanese ships "unfortunately" have no transmitters for the latter.

Display 'Courtesy'

Radio Tokyo told the Japanese people they should display "courtesy and a proper attitude" when approached by allied forces. Inhabitants should never resort to fistfights or display any violence, the broadcast said.

Tokyo also told the inhabitants of Korea and Formosa they should keep calm and remain in their present localities. The broadcast recalled that the Cairo declaration specified that Formosa ultimately would be returned to China and Korea would become free and independent.

PRELIMINARIES OVER IN TRIAL FOR QUISLING

OSLO, Aug. 23.—The prosecution would up its preliminary questioning of former puppet premier Vidkun Quisling at his treason trial today and called 49 Norwegian and German witnesses to tell the story of Norway's betrayal.

First to take the stand was Berthard Bergfeld, a member of the German legation staff at Oslo. Through him, the prosecution hoped to link Quisling with the German naval attaché who allegedly helped the puppet leader take charge of the Norwegian defense ministry on the morning of the German invasion April 9, 1940.

Among the other 17 German witnesses summoned was a colonel-major who arrived in custody of American soldiers, and one woman. Thirty-one Norwegian witnesses were called, including two generals and three women. (Continued on Page Two)

Fifth Of Jap Cities 'Wiped Out'

Tokyo Says Allied Air Raids Killed 260,000 Nips; Total Casualties 10,000,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—One fifth of Japan's more than 200 cities were "almost completely wiped out" in Allied air raids with a death toll of 260,000, radio Tokyo said today.

"Nearly 10,000,000 people—one-sixth of the population of the Japanese homeland—were killed, wounded or rendered homeless during the course of the war of greater East Asia," an official Domei news agency dispatch said. The broadcast was recorded here by United Press.

Japanese air defense general headquarters for the first time disclosed total raid casualty figures some 24 hours after announcements that 480,000 persons were killed, wounded or left homeless by two American atomic bombs.

Tokyo gave the following cumulative totals of raid casualties "according to figures so far available":

Killed—260,000, of whom 90,000 died from effects of the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki Aug. 6 and 9.

Wounded—412,000, including 180,000 atomic victims.

Homeless—9,200,000.

A total of 2,210,000 houses "completely demolished or burned down" and 90,000 partly damaged. "These figures were still incomplete," Domei said, "and are likely to mount higher upon investigation."

"Out of 206 cities of Japan proper 44 have been almost completely wiped out, while 37 others including Tokyo lost over 30 per cent of their built up area."

"Almost the entire Japanese mainland received heavy damage as a result of the enemy air raids, except Akita, Yamagata, Shikawa, Nagano, Shiga, Kyoto, Nara, Shikane and Tottori prefectures, where damage was comparatively small."

ADDRESS GIVEN FOR LIBERATED JAP PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Mail for prisoners of war and civilian internees held by Japan is now being dispatched from the United States to Manila by air.

The War Department said that under the new arrangement, delivery of this mail will be made either at Manila or at other points through which the liberated military and civilian personnel may pass en route back to the United States.

The mail should be addressed as follows:

Name of addressee.
(Rank and serial number for military personnel).
Liberated personnel section.
APO 501, c/o Postmaster.
San Francisco, Calif.

Heretofore, mail for Americans held by the Japanese had been transported by air via Teheran and also by surface vessels from the west coast through Soviet ports.

SUGAR STAMP 38 BECOMES VALID ON SEPTEMBER 1

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Sugar stamp 38 in ration book four will become valid Sept. 1, Office of Price Administration announced today.

It will be good for five pounds of sugar until Dec. 31, 1945.

The current sugar stamp, No. 36, becomes invalid Aug. 31.

OPA is continuing the current ration rate of five pounds of sugar every four months because of a shortage of supplies. No improvement for civilians is expected this year. Stocks are lower now than they have been for ten years.

FIVE CHANGES IN SURRENDER TERMS ASKED

Tokyo Radio Tells Public 50,000 To 60,000 Troops To Arrive Next Week

NIMITZ TO SIGN FOR U. S.

MacArthur To Sign Document As Supreme Commander; Other Developments

MANILA, Aug. 23.—Tokyo formally asked for five revisions in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's surrender orders today and told the Japanese people that 50,000 to 60,000 Allied occupation troops would land in the capital area next week alone.

MacArthur's forces ultimately will seize control of all Japan's strategic centers "with decisive armed strength," radio Tokyo said.

Japanese imperial headquarters broadcast in rapid succession five requests to MacArthur for changes in the surrender orders effective tomorrow immobilizing ships in Japanese home waters and requiring those at sea to head for Allied ports.

The five requests were for permission to:

1. Continue railway ferry services with unarmed, especially-marked vessels between Aomori and Hakodate, Uno and Takamatsu, and Odawara and Wakani for communications and transportation to carry out the surrender terms.

2. Leave in operation within Japanese waters some motor sailing vessels of more than 100 tons which, without radio equipment, may not receive the immobilization order.

3. Send a transport to Minamitori island with food supplies, since current supplies will be "completely exhausted" by Sunday. The transport would bring back sick and wounded.

4. Send two hospital ships with food and medical supplies to isolated garrisons on various South Pacific islands.

5. Allow Japanese ships at sea to communicate with the Allies on frequencies other than those prescribed by MacArthur since Japanese ships "unfortunately" have no transmitters for the latter.

Display "Courtesy" people they should display "courtesy and a proper attitude" when approached by Allied forces. Inhabitants should never resort to fistfights or display any violence, the broadcast said.

Tokyo also told the inhabitants of Korea and Formosa they should keep calm and remain in their present localities. The broadcast recalled that the Cairo declaration specified that Formosa ultimately would be returned to China and Korea would become free and independent.

HERSHEY SAYS JOB GUARANTEE ENDS WITH WAR

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—The guarantee to war veterans of their right to return to their peacetime jobs will end with official termination of the war, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said last night.

Hershey said that the provisions of the selective service act guaranteeing draftees their old jobs were passed by congress "for what was thought to be a year's training period."

Unless there is additional legislation, Hershey said, the sections of selective service concerning job return will "be abolished automatically when congress terminates hostilities."

Section 8 of the selective service act provides that any one who leaves his job, which is not of a temporary nature, to enter training under the draft act shall, upon completion of such training and service, be restored to such position or to a position of like seniority and wages provided he is qualified to do so and unless there is a drastic change in the employer's circumstances.

bombers will begin a shuttle service to Atsugi airfield near Tokyo Tuesday with air-borne occupation troops. Sea-borne forces also will begin landing Tuesday.

MacArthur announced, meantime, that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, will sign the Japanese surrender document for the United States aboard the American battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay Aug. 31. MacArthur also will sign the document, but as supreme Allied commander.

Other developments in the Pacific situation included:

1. MacArthur's headquarters announced that 32,000 Allied war prisoners and civilian internees will be evacuated from Japan to the Philippines by sea and air as fast as their health permits.

2. Nimitz announced that the Japanese garrison of 4,550 on bypassed Mille atoll in the Marshall Islands had surrendered unconditionally. Capitulation of other isolated enemy Pacific forces totaling perhaps 240,000 Japanese was expected soon.

3. Japan formally asked MacArthur to give special consideration to the time and means of disarming the Japanese army in China because of the activities of "irregular forces" bandits and disturbances of mobs.

4. Japanese military authorities notified Chinese and American officials that they could enter Nanking, former Chinese capital, at any time now to arrange for the surrender of 1,000,000 or more Japanese troops in China.

5. Emperor Kang Teh — the former Henry P'u Yi — dissolved his puppet government in Soviet-liberated Manchuria and abdicated his throne. Kang Teh has been interned by the Russians.

6. Japan notified MacArthur that Maj. Gen. Prince Haruhito Kanin, a relative of Emperor Hirohito, was en route back to Tokyo by Wau of Canton and Shanghai from Saigon after notifying Japanese troops in the southern regions of the imperial cease-fire order.

7. Tokyo broadcasts said Japanese forces in Shanghai and southern Borneo would observe the emperor's surrender orders.

Radio Tokyo in reporting that the initial Allied forces to be landed in the capital area would total from 50,000 to 60,000 men, warned the Japanese people that the troops would come "fully equipped and armed" against any emergencies.

Japanese troops already were being withdrawn from the occupation area south of Tokyo "to avoid any unlooked for clashes between our forces and the occupying units," the broadcast said.

Tokyo warned that even a single "mistake" in Japan's conduct toward the occupation troops might prolong the period of occupation and bring a "harsh and severe occupation administration."

Under the occupation terms agreed upon at Manila, Tokyo said, administration of Japan will remain in Japanese hands though subject to the orders of MacArthur. Any breach of the occupation terms would result in Allied forces taking over direct control, however, Tokyo said.

"One thing those who will come in contact with the Allied forces must bear in mind is the fact that they will occupy our mainland fully equipped and armed," the broadcast said.

"After the complete withdrawal of Japanese troops, they will seize control of all our strategic centers with decisive armed strength."

The broadcast said Japan still did not know the exact areas to be occupied nor the final peace terms to be imposed by the Allies. Tokyo said yesterday, however, that occupation of the Tokyo area was expected to be completed by Aug. 31 and landings would begin in southern Kyushu next day.

MacArthur reported that in addition to Nimitz and himself, those who would sign the Japanese surrender document for the Allies would be:

For the United Kingdom — Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander of the Pacific fleet.

For Australia — Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander in chief of the Australian army.

For the Netherlands East Indies — Lt. Gen. L. H. Van Oyen, commander in chief of the Dutch East Indies.

For the Soviet Union — Lt. Gen. Kuzma Nikolaevich Derzhanov, for China — Gen. Yung Chang.

For France — Gen. Jacques le Clerc, commander of the French expeditionary force in the far east. The signers for Canada and New Zealand have not been announced.

"there would have been no future for Europe or Asia, but intolerable servitude."

"Now we have to organize the world to conform to the principles for which we all fought," he said. "In this immense task the United States will have to play the leading part."

"Long live the United States of America!"

At the White House a little later there was further evidence of cordiality when DeGaulle first met President Truman on the south lawn — before they walked arm-in-arm into the mansion.

The top layer of Washington officialdom turned out later for a state dinner in DeGaulle's honor. In addition to the cabinet and representatives of congress and the supreme court, America's five top military men were around the White House table.

Ranking representatives of the other big powers — Russia, Britain and China — also were present.

French officials said DeGaulle did not bring an agenda for his talks with Mr. Truman. But his party of 16 members contains specialists in many fields which would allow him to discuss virtually any of the many problems which now vex liberated France — rehabilitation, reparations, the future of Germany, the future of the French colonial empire, and credits or loans.

His first remarks at the airport made clear French willingness to go along with any world security plan proposed by the United States. In exchange for French cooperation he may be hoping for a more receptive ear in American quarters on French problems than he has received in the past.

Both American and French officials were rather skeptical about anything "very tangible" coming out of the DeGaulle-Truman talks. The United States already has supported and won inclusion of France in the council of foreign ministers and on the reparations commission where most of the European problems of the near future will be decided.

In the Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has revealed that France will be one of the signatories of the Japanese surrender document — a move that assures France of a voice in the Far East settlements.

DeGaulle would like assurances that there will be no question about the return of Indo-China to the tricolor and may discuss this if the White House talks get around to postwar naval and air bases.

PLAN TO GIVE AWAY SURPLUS BEING STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—Two-thirds of all war property declared surplus to date are airplanes and parts but less than a third of these are saleable, the Surplus Property Board disclosed today.

This picture came to light as the SPB worked on plans to prevent release of surplus goods from upsetting the nation's economy. Programs now being studied include efforts to create new markets by practically giving away supplies to pioneer users. The theory is that such material would have to be maintained and eventually replaced, thus stimulating new production.

One of these involves the immense stocks of radio equipment on hand. The office of education is considering establishing a chain of radio stations at selected schools and colleges to broadcast complete educational courses on all school levels. If this is done, the government would practically give the necessary equipment to the project. Immediately, SPB feels, a market would be created for radio manufacturers for parts and maintenance and, ultimately, for complete replacement.

FIRST MARRIAGE LICENSE RECORDED IN NEW BOOK

First license in a new marriage record book was issued in probate court Wednesday to Ray Harold Moss, 44, salesman, 1619 Pembroke avenue, and Emma May Grant, 556 East Franklin street.

This first entry in the new book marked the 601st marriage in Pickaway county since April 5, 1941. The six hundredth marriage was recorded in the old book last Friday.

BOY SENTENCED TO BIS ACCUSED OF BURGLARY

Thirteen-year-old boy, sentenced to BIS at Lancaster Wednesday by Judge Sterling M. Lamb, juvenile court officer, was also charged with breaking and entering Don White's store Tuesday night.

The youngster, arrested with two accomplices for breaking and entering the Weldon home earlier last week, was on parole from BIS at the time of his arrest, the juvenile officers stated.

252 WAR PLANTS NOW 'SURPLUS'

for a changeover to peacetime output.

Tentative Navy plans call for retention of 60 plants for postwar use or for emergency needs. In addition, there are 27 other facilities—not complete plants—which the Navy would like to keep in a stand-by status. There are also 142 plants built by the Defense Plant Corp. in which the Navy had partial interest. The Navy has advised DPC it no longer needs them.

High officials said the Navy was willing to sell some of the 60 post-war plants provided the purchaser would be willing to produce the things the Navy needs.

Representatives of seven top industry organizations, at a meeting with WPB Chairman J. A. Krug yesterday, urged cancellation of controls over private housing and other restricted building. There was a possibility that WPB might revoke these controls by Sept. 30.

The 252 plants declared surplus by the Army today cover nearly 50,000,000 square feet of ground and were used to produce aircraft, tanks, explosives, artillery and small arms, chemicals, steel, radar and radio. They will be available for disposal shortly through the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Surplus war plants in Ohio include these 13:

Aerona Aircraft Corp., Middletown; Pesco Products Co., Cleveland; Waco Aircraft Co., Troy, Ohio; Steel Foundry Co., Lima; Pipe Machinery Co., Cleveland; Plum Brook Ordnance Works, Sandusky; Scioto Ordnance Plant, Marion; Searchlight Mirror Plant No. 2, Mariemont; Timken Roller Bearing Co., Columbus; Toledo Core Plant, Toledo; Townmotor Corporation, Cleveland; Warner and Swazey Co., Cleveland.

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION OF JAPANESE DIET CONVENES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23—The Japanese Diet news agency reported today that an extraordinary session of the Japanese diet will convene Sept. 2 and 3.

The broadcast gave no details of the session. It was recorded by FCC.

Previous Tokyo reports said that Japanese parliamentary elements had been demanding that the diet be summoned to deal with Japan's critical problems arising out of the surrender.

Japanese propaganda was taking the line that Japan must stamp out ignorance and master the secrets of science and mass-production in order to take her place again in the world.

MORE BANS ON CIVILIAN LIFE SLATED TO GO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—The home front picture today:

Deliveries — Restrictions on deliveries by dairies, laundries, department stores and other retailers to be lifted Nov. 1, permitting resumption of daily service where desired.

Travel — ODT ends ban on seasonal trains to resorts and vacation spots. Other restrictions stand.

Lumber — WPB cuts controls over lumber, says there should be enough for all kinds of construction within 30 days.

Food — Sugar shortage to continue throughout 1946. Sugar, fats and oils will be last items off ration list. Beef ration values to be slashed for September ration period.

Gasoline — Government to terminate contracts for 100 octane gasoline, thus assuring higher octane gas for civilians soon.

Shoes — Manufacturers and shoe repairmen given permission to order high-grade leather outsoles for men's shoes for first time since start of the war.

$11,000,000,000 DRIVE BEGINS ON OCTOBER 29

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—The victory loan, last organized bond drive of its kind planned by the government, will be held from Oct. 29 to Dec. 8 with a goal of $11,000,000,000, the treasury announced today.

Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson explained that despite the end of the war the government still needed huge amounts of money to meet costs of mustering out pay, redeployment of soldiers, hospitalization and other expenses incident to the war.

A $200 bond, known as the Franklin Roosevelt memorial bond, will make its first appearance when the drive starts. It will sell for $150 and will be part of the E group.

To meet the $11,000,000,000 goal, individuals will be asked to purchase $4,000,000,000 of the bonds and other non-bank investors $7,000,000,000. The E bond quota will be $2,000,000,000, half that in the final war loan goal.

The overall goal is $3,000,000,000 below that of the seventh war loan, it was pointed out that with war contracts being cancelled at a rapid rate, many former buyers will not be on the victory bond roll. In the last drive a total of $1,300,000,000 in subscriptions came from war plants alone.

NEW HOLLAND PACER PLACES AT GREENVILLE

GREENVILLE, O., Aug. 23—Ensign Hanover piloted by Sep Palin edged out 13 other entries at the Darke county fair yesterday to win the Fox Pacing Stake for two-year-olds and bring home the $9,826 first place purse.

Scotch Mary, owned by Walter J. Michael, of Bucyrus, O., won the $4,910 second place purse. Royal Chief, owned by E. P. Cray, of Bellows Falls, Vt., and Bert Abbe, of the Ernest W. Smith stables, of New Holland, O., were third and fourth.

The $1,000 2:15 pace was won by April Star, owned by R. L. Craig, of Urbana. Mrs. Johnson's Carmel Boy won the $602.50 purse for three-year-olds while Errol Hanover, from the Egan stables, of Longwood, Fla., won the $600 purse 2:20 trot.

100 miles north of Mukden. A plane took off from Soviet-held Mukden Tuesday to bring out the general. Wedemeyer did not mention Wainwright's present whereabouts, but it was possible that he either had or was about to fly out of Manchuria. He will be 62 years old tomorrow.

Red Cross To Help

MacArthur's headquarters said the recovered personnel division of the American Red Cross would cooperate with occupation troops in speeding the evacuation of all Allied war prisoners and civilian internees from Japan.

The names of those liberated and evacuated will be transmitted immediately to the War department in Washington. Units also will accept and transmit messages to next of kin through the War department.

Immediately after they have been registered, headquarters said, internees and prisoners will be rushed to the Philippines, where two receiving depots have been established near Manila to handle them.

In addition to the Americans and British, those due to be repatriated were believed to include 5,000 Dutch, 5,000 to 8,000 Australians and 1,000 Canadians.

The American Red Cross alone will send almost 100 workers to Japan with the occupation forces. They will provide comfort articles and stationery while troops will provide medical supplies, food, clothing and other necessities.

The receiving camps near Manila will operate free port exchanges, clothing depots, theatres and special services. Financial grants will be to repatriates returning to the United States. The sick will be sent to Army hospitals for treatment and recuperation.

Japs Will Help

From Tokyo came the following message:

"The Japan delegation of the international Red Cross committee, the Swiss legation and the Swedish legation, with the agreement of the Japanese government, as well as with the military and naval authorities, are preparing to assist in evacuating prisoners of war and allied internees to points of embarkation."

"Seven groups have been constituted, each composed of a representative of the Japan delegation of the international Red Cross committee, the Swiss and the Swedish legations, who will proceed on August 24 to the seven main prisoner of war camps within Japan and to the respective points of embarkation."

Wedemeyer's headquarters in Chungking said Chinese forces had reached the former Japanese prison camp at Weihsien in Shantung province and were furnishing food to the inmates. Chinese trucks will carry supplies to the camp and evacuate stretcher cases to a nearby airfield, the announcement said.

production is expected to rise sharply in the Spring.

Film: by the end of the year supply should approximate demand. The Army and Navy have made extensive cut-backs in film requirements, but will continue to use large amounts of X-ray film in examining personnel to be discharged from the armed forces. This country furnishes 75 per cent of the world's supply, so foreign demand also will be high.

Dry cell batteries: in the next few months should equal demand. The total supply for civilians is now more than during the pre-war years, but demand has increased. Some 125,000,000 cells, including those for hearing aids, will be manufactured in the next few months.

Refrigerators: may now be produced at unlimited rate but WPB retains controls on distribution and will probably continue them until mid-October. Fourth quarter production to be about 700,000 units. Demand estimated at 6,000,000 units.

Dental burrs—enough will be available by the end of the year to meet the needs of civilian dentists.

Office equipment—about $20,000,000 worth of such items as shelves, lockers, safes and files will be available in the first quarter of 1946.

Caskets — Unlimited production of metal caskets cannot be resumed for sometime because of shortage of tin and natural rubber. Caskets now made primarily of lumber and plastics.

Laboratory equipment — should be in good supply during the last three months of the year.

SOVIETS CLAIM BULGARIA VOTE WILL BE 'FREE'

LONDON, Aug. 23—Soviet press dispatches today flatly rejected the contention of the western Allies that Bulgaria's election law is unfair as an appeal from King Michael of Romania posed a ticklish new problem for the big three powers.

The Soviet news agency Tass in a broadcast from Moscow quoted a commentary in the government newspaper Izvestia as describing the Bulgarian election law as "the most democratic the Bulgarian people ever had."

Both the United States and Britain have sent official representations to Bulgaria over the forthcoming elections, Britain saying curtly that the results of the voting would be rejected because of the undemocratic character of the law under which it will be held.

(A dispatch from Istanbul said that American warnings regarding the election had created a political crisis in Bulgaria. It quoted reports of continuous meetings being organized by the government, which the Bulgarian people refused to attend.)

tion of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's over-all negotiations. Complications appeared certain as the Chinese announced that they would occupy the British crown colony of Hong Kong, and would accept Japanese surrenders in China, Formosa, and the northern half of Indo-China.

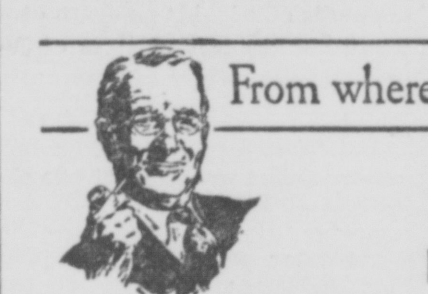

The British military mission at Chungking told the United Press yesterday that British naval units already were on their way to take over in Hong Kong.

The Japanese surrender mission at Chihkiang yesterday gave the Chinese the Japanese army's entire communications plan in China and a map detailing the positions of more than 1,000,000 Japanese officers and men.

Imai told Allied correspondents that there were more than 3,000,000 Japanese troops on the Asiatic continent still capable of fighting, despite the destruction of the Japanese airforce and navy, but that Emperor Hirohito's surrender orders would be strictly obeyed.

Moscow radio reported today that Marshal Alexander M. Vassilevsky met with representatives of the Japanese Kwantung army in a little house not far from the Soviet-Manchurian border on August 19. The Japanese agreed to unconditional surrender and plans were made for turning over all Japanese arms, Moscow said.

On the same day, the greater part of the Japanese front began to surrender, the broadcast said, although some enemy units refused to give up claiming they were waiting for orders from Tokyo.

Songs for a Better World

We were sitting around the embers of Ed Crumple's barbecue last Saturday night, finishing our beer and hot dogs, while Ed strummed the guitar... picking out old, friendly songs.

Soon everyone was singing. The harmony wasn't too good... but the spirit was—a spirit of friendship and good humor.

And it made me think how music—music of the people—overcomes barriers of prejudice and intolerance. A Yankee folksong or an English carol or a Southern melody—they all speak a common language of the heart... bind folks together... help us forget our grudges.

From where I sit, music can help to make the whole world kin. Maybe we ought to have a lot more of it... informal sings around the fire, and in the home. And it's sure true that a mellow glass of beer fits into the picture. It just naturally goes with that kind of music.

bombers will begin a shuttle service to Atsugi airfield near Tokyo Tuesday with air-borne occupation troops. Sea-borne forces also will begin landing Tuesday.

MacArthur announced, meantime, that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, will sign the Japanese surrender document for the United States aboard the American battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay Aug. 31. MacArthur also will sign the document, but as supreme Allied commander.

Other developments in the Pacific situation included: 1. MacArthur's headquarters announced that 32,000 Allied war prisoners and civilian internees will be evacuated from Japan to the Philippines by sea and air as fast as their health permits.

2. Nimitz announced that the Japanese garrison of 4,550 on bypassed Mille atoll in the Marshall Islands had surrendered unconditionally. Capitulation of other isolated enemy Pacific forces totaling perhaps 240,000 Japanese was expected soon.

3. Japan formally asked MacArthur to give special consideration to the time and means of disarming the Japanese army in China because of the activities of "irregular" forces, bandits and disturbances of mobs.

4. Japanese military authorities notified Chinese and American officials that they could enter Nanking, former Chinese capital, at any time now to arrange for the surrender of 1,000,000 or more Japanese troops in China.

5. Emperor Kang Teh — the former Henry P'u Yi—dissolved his puppet government in Soviet-occupied Manchuria and abdicated his throne. Kang Teh has been interned by the Russians.

6. Japan notified MacArthur that Maj. Gen. Prince Haruhito Kanin, a relative of Emperor Hirohito, was en route back to Tokyo by Wau of Canton and Shanghai from Saigon after notifying Japanese troops in the southern regions of the imperial cease-fire order.

7. Tokyo broadcasts said Japanese forces in Shanghai and southern Borneo would observe the emperor's surrender order.

Radio Tokyo in reporting that the initial Allied forces to be landed in the capital area would total from 50,000 to 60,000 men, warned the Japanese people that the troops would come "fully equipped and armed" against any emergencies.

Japanese troops already were being withdrawn from the occupation area south of Tokyo "to avoid any unlooked for clashes between our forces and the occupying units," the broadcast said.

Tokyo warned that even a single "mistake" in Japan's conduct toward the occupation troops might prolong the period of occupation and bring a "harsh and severe occupation administration."

Under the occupation terms agreed upon at Manila, Tokyo said, administration of Japan will remain in Japanese hands though subject to the orders of MacArthur. Any breach of the occupation terms would result in Allied forces taking over direct control, however, Tokyo said.

"One thing those who will come in contact with the Allied forces must bear in mind is the fact that they will occupy our mainland fully equipped and armed," the broadcast said.

"After the complete withdrawal of Japanese troops, they will seize control of all our strategic centers with decisive armed strength."

The broadcast said Japan still did not know the exact areas to be occupied nor the final peace terms to be imposed by the Allies. Tokyo said yesterday, however, that occupation of the Tokyo area was expected to be completed by Aug. 31 and landings would begin in southern Kyushu next day.

MacArthur reported that in addition to Nimitz and himself, those who would sign the Japanese surrender document for the Allies would be:

For the United Kingdom—Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander of the Pacific fleet.
For Australia—Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander in chief of the Australian army.
For the Netherlands East Indies—Lt. Gen. L. H. Van Oyen, commander in chief of the Dutch East Indies.
For the Soviet Union—Lt. Gen. Kuzma Nikolaevich Derjyanko.
For China—Gen. Hsu Yung-Chang.
For France—Gen. Jacques le Clerc, commander of the French expeditionary force in the far east.
The signers for Canada and New Zealand have not been announced.

Truman, DeGaulle Off To Good Start On Talks To Improve Relations

"there would have been no future for Europe or Asia, but intolerable servitude."

"Now we have to organize the world to conform to the principles for which we all fought," he said. "In this immense task the United States will have to play the leading part."

"Long live the United States of America!"

At the White House a little later there was further evidence of cordiality when DeGaulle first met President Truman on the south lawn—before they walked arm-in-arm into the mansion.

The top layer of Washington officialdom turned out later for a state dinner in DeGaulle's honor. In addition to the cabinet and representatives of congress and the supreme court, America's five top military men were around the White House table.

Ranking representatives of the other big powers—Russia, Britain and China—also were present.

French officials said DeGaulle did not bring an agenda for his talks with Mr. Truman. But his party of 16 members contains specialists in many fields which would allow him to discuss virtually any of the many problems which now vex liberated France—rehabilitation, reparations, the future of Germany, the future of the French colonial empire, and credits or loans.

His first remarks at the airport made clear French willingness to go along with any world security plan proposed by the United States. In exchange for French cooperation he may be hoping for a more receptive ear in American quarters on French problems than he has received in the past.

Both American and French officials were rather skeptical about anything "very tangible" coming out of the DeGaulle-Truman talks. The United States already has supported and won inclusion of France in the council of foreign ministers and on the reparations commission where most of the European problems of the near future will be decided.

In the Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has revealed that France will be one of the signatories of the Japanese surrender document—a move that assures France of a voice in the Far East settlements.

DeGaulle would like assurances that there will be no question about the return of Indo-China to the tricolor and may discuss this if the White House talks get around to postwar naval and air bases.

PLAN TO GIVE AWAY SURPLUS BEING STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—Two-thirds of all war property declared surplus to date are airplanes and parts but less than a third of these are saleable, the Surplus Property Board disclosed today.

This picture came to light as the SPB worked on plans to prevent release of surplus goods from upsetting the nation's economy. Programs now being studied include efforts to create new markets by practically giving away supplies to pioneer users. The theory is that such material would have to be maintained and eventually replaced, thus stimulating new production.

One of these involves the immense stocks of radio equipment on hand. The office of education is considering establishing a chain of radio stations at selected schools and colleges to broadcast complete educational courses on all school levels. If this is done, the government would practically give the necessary equipment to the project. Immediately, SPB feels, a market would be created for radio manufacturers for parts and maintenance and, ultimately, for complete replacement.

FIRST MARRIAGE LICENSE RECORDED IN NEW BOOK

First license in a new marriage record book was issued in probate court Wednesday to Ray Harold Moss, 44, salesman, 1619 Pembroke avenue, and Emma May Grant, 586 East Franklin street. This first entry in the new book marked the 601st marriage in Pickaway county since April 5, 1941. The six hundredth marriage was recorded in the old book last Friday.

BOY SENTENCED TO BIS ACCUSED OF BURGLARY

Thirteen-year-old boy, sentenced to BIS at Lancaster Wednesday by Judge Sterling M. Lamb, juvenile court officer, was also charged with breaking and entering Don White's store Tuesday night.

The youngster, arrested with two accomplices for breaking and entering the Weldon home earlier last week, was on parole from BIS at the time of his arrest, the juvenile officers stated.

252 WAR PLANTS NOW 'SURPLUS'

for a changeover to peacetime output.

Tentative Navy plans call for retention of 60 plants for postwar use or for emergency needs. In addition, there are 27 other facilities—not complete plants—which the Navy would like to keep in a stand-by status. There are also 142 plants built by the Defense Plant Corp. in which the Navy had partial interest. The Navy has decided DPC it no longer needs them.

High officials said the Navy was willing to sell some of the 60 post-war plants provided the purchaser would be willing to produce the things the Navy needs.

Representatives of seven top industry organizations, at a meeting with WPB Chairman J. A. Krug yesterday, urged cancellation of controls over private housing and other restricted building. There was a possibility that WPB might revoke these controls by Sept. 30.

The 252 plants declared surplus by the Army today cover nearly 50,000,000 square feet of ground and were used to produce aircraft, tanks, explosives, artillery and small arms, chemicals, steel, radar and radio. They will be available for disposal shortly through the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Surplus war plants in Ohio include these 13:

Aerona Aircraft Corp., Middletown; Pesco Products Co., Cleveland; Waco Aircraft Co., Troy, Ohio Steel Foundry Co., Lima; Ohio Machinery Co., Cleveland; Plum Brook Ordnance Works, Sandusky; Scioto Ordnance Plant, Marion; Searchlight Mirror Plant No. 2, Mariemont; Timken Roller Bearing Co., Columbus; Toledo Core Plant, Toledo; Towmotor Corporation, Cleveland; Warner and Swazey Co., Cleveland.

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION OF JAPANESE DIET CONVENES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23—The Japanese Diet convenes today an extraordinary session of the Japanese diet will convene Sept. 2 and 3.

The broadcast gave no details of the session. It was recorded by FCC.

Previous Tokyo reports said that Japanese parliamentary elements had been demanding that the diet be summoned to deal with Japan's critical problems arising out of the surrender.

Japanese propaganda was taking the line that Japan must stamp out ignorance and master the secrets of science and mass-production in order to take her place again in the world.

MORE BANS ON CIVILIAN LIFE SLATED TO GO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—The home front picture today:

Deliveries — Restrictions on deliveries by dairies, laundries, department stores and other retailers to be lifted Nov. 1, permitting resumption of daily service where desired.

Travel — ODT ends ban on seasonal trains to resorts and vacation spots. Other restrictions stand.

Lumber — WPB cuts controls over lumber, says there should be enough for all kinds of construction within 30 days.

Food — Sugar shortage to continue throughout 1946. Sugar, fats and oils will be last items of ration list. Beef ration values to be slashed for September ration period.

Gasoline — Government to terminate contracts for 100 octane gasoline, thus assuring higher octane gas for civilians soon.

Shoes — Manufacturers and shoe repairmen given permission to order high-grade leather outsoles for men's shoes for first time since start of the war.

Allied Nationals To Be Taken To Philippines Soon As Possible

100 miles north of Mukden. A plane took off from Soviet-held Mukden Tuesday to bring out the general. Wedemeyer did not mention Wainwright's present whereabouts, but it was possible that he either had or was about to fly out of Manchuria. He will be 62 years old tomorrow.

Red Cross To Help

MacArthur's headquarters said the recovered personnel division of the American Red Cross would cooperate with occupation troops in speeding the evacuation of all Allied war prisoners and civilian internees from Japan.

The names of those liberated and evacuated will be transmitted immediately to the War department in Washington. Units also will accept and transmit messages to next of kin through the War department.

Immediately after they have been registered, headquarters said, internees and prisoners will be rushed to the Philippines, where two receiving depots have been established near Manila to handle them.

In addition to the Americans and British, those due to be repatriated were believed to include 5,000 Dutch, 5,000 to 8,000 Australians and 1,000 Canadians.

The American Red Cross alone will send almost 100 workers to Japan with the occupation forces. They will provide comfort articles and stationery while troops will provide medical supplies, food, clothing and other necessities.

The receiving camps near Manila will operate free port exchanges, clothing depots, theatres and special services. Financial grants will be to repatriates returning to the United States. The sick will be sent to Army hospitals for treatment and recuperation.

Japs Will Help

From Tokyo came the following message: "The Japan delegation of the international Red Cross committee, the Swiss legation and the Swedish legation, with the agreement of the Japanese government, as well as with the military and naval authorities, are preparing to assist in evacuating prisoners of war and civil internees to points of embarkation."

"Seven groups have been constituted, each composed of a representative of the Japan delegation of the international Red Cross committee, the Swiss and the Swedish legations, who will proceed on August 24 to the seven main prisoner of war camps within Japan and to the respective points of embarkation."

Wedemeyer's headquarters in Chungking said Chinese forces had reached the former Japanese prison camp at Weihsien in Shantung province and were furnishing food to the inmates. Chinese trucks will carry supplies to the camp and evacuate stretcher cases to a nearby airfield, the announcement said.

produced in fourth quarter. Production is expected to rise sharply in the Spring.

Film: by the end of the year supply should approximate demand. The Army and Navy have made extensive cut-backs in film requirements, but will continue to use large amounts of X-ray film in examining personnel to be discharged from the armed forces. This country furnishes 75 per cent of the world's supply, so foreign demand also will be high.

Dry cell batteries: in the next few months should equal demand. The total supply for civilians is now more than during the pre-war years, but demand has increased. Some 125,000,000 cells, including those for hearing aids, will be manufactured in the next few months.

Refrigerators: may now be produced at unlimited rate but WPB retains controls on distribution and will probably continue them until mid-October. Fourth quarter production to be about 700,000 units. Demand estimated at 6,000,000 units.

Dental burrs—enough will be available by the end of the year to meet the needs of civilian dentists.

Office equipment—about $20,000,000 worth of such items as shelves, lockers, safes and files will be available in the first quarter of 1946.

Caskets—Unlimited production of metal caskets cannot be resumed for sometime because of shortage of tin and natural rubber. Caskets now made primarily of lumber and plastics. Laboratory equipment—should be in good supply during the last three months of the year.

SOVIETS CLAIM BULGARIA VOTE WILL BE 'FREE'

LONDON, Aug. 23—Soviet press dispatches today flatly rejected the contention of the western Allies that Bulgaria's election law is unfair as an appeal from King Michael of Romania posed a ticklish new problem for the big three powers.

The Soviet news agency Tass in a broadcast from Moscow quoted a commentary in the government newspaper Izvestia as describing the Bulgarian election law as "the most democratic the Bulgarian people ever had."

Both the United States and Britain have sent official representations to Bulgaria over the forthcoming elections, Britain saying curtly that the results of the voting would be rejected because of the undemocratic character of the law under which it will be held.

(A dispatch from Istanbul said that American warnings regarding the election had created a political crisis in Bulgaria. It quoted reports of continuous meetings being organized by the government, which the Bulgarian people refused to attend.)

turned by Red Army forces in a "safe place."

The Red Army's occupation of Dairen and Port Arthur, originally wrested from Russia by Japan in the war of 1904-05, was announced in a Russian communique. Japanese troops in the two ports were being disarmed, the communique said.

Other Red Army forces continued to round up by-passed Japanese troops in Manchuria. More than 71,000 prisoners were counted yesterday, including 20 generals. One of them was a General Hongo, commander of the 44th Kwantung army.

The Soviet communique also reported that Russian troops had driven across a 20-mile strait from the Kamchatka peninsula to Shumushu, northernmost of the Japanese Kurile Islands. The Japanese began to lay down their arms and surrender as soon as Russian forces appeared, the communique said.

Moscow radio reported today that Marshal Alexander M. Vassilevsky met with representatives of the Japanese Kwantung army in a little house not far from the Soviet-Manchurian border on August 19. The Japanese agreed to unconditional surrender and plans were made for turning over all Japanese arms, Moscow said.

On the same day, the greater part of the Japanese front began to surrender, the broadcast said, although some enemy units refused to give up claiming they were waiting for orders from Tokyo.

Songs for a Better World

We were sitting around the embers of Ed Crumple's barbecue last Saturday night, finishing our beer and hot dogs, while Ed strummed the guitar... picking out old, friendly songs.

Soon everyone was singing. The harmony wasn't too good... but the spirit was—a spirit of friendship and good humor.

And it made me think how music—music of the people—overcomes barriers of prejudice and intolerance. A Yankee folksong or an English carol or a

WHERRY SAYS INDUSTRY MUST DO ATOM WORK

Senator Claims Government
Control Would Bring
State Socialism

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—Private enterprise must develop peacetime industrial uses of atomic energy because government control would inevitably drive the United States into some form of state socialism, Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, R., Neb., said today.

Wherry disagreed sharply with reported administration plans to vest complete control over all phases of atomic development in a government board or commission.

The issue is expected to develop a bitter congressional fight. President Truman is scheduled to send a special message to congress next month outlining a proposed bill on control of atomic development.

Wherry said in an interview that "in the final analysis, we cannot depart from our private enterprise system."

"Our capitalistic system outproduced the world and won the war," he said. "And private enterprise will outproduce any planned socialistic economy in developing the uses of atomic energy."

Sen. Charles W. Tobey, R., N. H., however, took issue with Wherry's position.

Tobey advocated perpetual government control with a possible licensing arrangement to permit private industry to lease atomic energy to run its plants and factories.

Wherry said that if atomic power becomes the basis of all industry within 15 or 20 years—as some scientists believe possible—then government control of the power will lead inevitably to government control of industry.

"If we follow that road," he said, "it will force us straight into a socialistic society. I agree that the government must control all military developments of the atomic bomb, but I am against letting the government control its industrial uses. That would mean the end of our free economy."

Tobey said atomic energy must never be allowed to become "a profit-making device."

"This awesome power is a sacred trust placed in our hands," Tobey said. "It came from the government which is the people, and it must remain with the government, which is the people. It belongs to us all."

"If, as may be possible, it can be used for transportation and light and heat and industry, it will be a great day for America. But it must never be allowed to pass into private hands which might misuse it."

MAN WHO WANTS TO DIE GIVEN EXECUTION STAY

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23—George H. Pierce, 48-year-old convicted slayer, won't keep his date with death in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tomorrow night after all.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche disregarded Pierce's plea not to intervene in the case and granted him a stay of execution until Sept. 24 to permit a more complete investigation of his case.

Pierce climaxed three attempts at suicide with a letter to the governor saying he wanted to die and urging him not to interfere even if executive clemency were asked "by well-meaning friends."

Police said Pierce killed his estranged wife and son, Homer, 19, and shot a daughter, Leatrice, 19, and then turned the gun on himself. The daughter later recovered.

WHERRY SAYS INDUSTRY MUST DO ATOM WORK

Senator Claims Government
Control Would Bring
State Socialism

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—Private enterprise must develop peacetime industrial uses of atomic energy because government control would inevitably drive the United States into some form of state socialism, Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, R., Neb., said today.

Wherry disagreed sharply with reported administration plans to vest complete control over all phases of atomic development in a government board or commission.

The issue is expected to develop a bitter congressional fight. President Truman is scheduled to send a special message to congress next month outlining a proposed bill on control of atomic development.

Wherry said in an interview that "in the final analysis, we cannot depart from our private enterprise system."

"Our capitalistic system outproduced the world and won the war," he said. "And private enterprise will outproduce any planned socialistic economy in developing the uses of atomic energy."

Sen. Charles W. Tobey, R., N. H., however, took issue with Wherry's position.

Tobey advocated perpetual government control with a possible licensing arrangement to permit private industry to lease atomic energy to run its plants and factories.

Wherry said that if atomic power becomes the basis of all industry within 15 or 20 years—as some scientists believe possible—then government control of the power will lead inevitably to government control of industry.

"If we follow that road," he said, "it will force us straight into a socialistic society. I agree that the government must control all military developments of the atomic bomb, but I am against letting the government control its industrial uses. That would mean the end of our free economy."

Tobey said atomic energy must never be allowed to become "a profit-making device."

"This awesome power is a sacred trust placed in our hands," Tobey said. "It came from the government which is the people, and it must remain with the government, which is the people. It belongs to us all."

"If, as may be possible, it can be used for transportation and light and heat and industry, it will be a great day for America. But it must never be allowed to pass into private hands which might misuse it."

Whiteside, Williamsport; Leonard L. Eblin, Circleville.

MAN WHO WANTS TO DIE GIVEN EXECUTION STAY

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23—George H. Pierce, 48-year-old convicted slayer, won't keep his date with death in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tomorrow night after all.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche disregarded Pierce's plea not to intervene in the case and granted him a stay of execution until Sept. 24 to permit a more complete investigation of his case.

Pierce climaxed three attempts at suicide with a letter to the governor saying he wanted to die and urging him not to interfere even if executive clemency were asked "by well-meaning friends."

Police said Pierce killed his estranged wife and son, Homer, 16, and shot a daughter, Leatrice, 19, and then turned the gun on himself. The daughter later recovered.

was in effect during the period of the war. Gas furnaces, space heaters and other gas burning appliances can now be installed in the customers homes and places of business without receiving formal approval from the War Production Department at Washington.

Mr. McClain cites there is somewhat of a shortage in available equipment at this time. However, the manufacturers have promised rapid conversion in their plants from their war manufacturing products to gas heating appliances.

In the future it will not be necessary to contact the local gas management if you are fortunate enough to have the necessary equipment available for installation.

NATS HUSTLING TOWARD TITLE

Senators Only Half Game Out Of First After Two Wins From Tribe

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—They don't call owner Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators the "Old Fox" for nothing.

Borrowing a page from the book of Sam Bredon of the St. Louis Cardinals, Griffith today has his ball players hustling for a World Series out that would be more than many of them will make for an entire season.

Wherever the Senators go in their swing about the American League circuit, fans, writers and opposing teams are impressed by their spirit and hustle. It's the same kind of spirit that has typified Cardinal clubs for years and is born of desperation. If a player has a chance to double his money just by landing in the World Series, he is likely to bear down and that is just what must be buzzing through the minds of the clouting Capitolians as they get closer and closer to first place.

Today they were only half a game out after another double header victory at Cleveland, 3 to 0 and 6 to 5, yesterday. That ran their current winning streak to five straight games. The five-hit shutout by Roger Wolff in the opener was the third blanking job in four games by a Senator pitcher.

Winding up their final western swing with 13 victories out of 20, the Senators won the first game on the margin of a homer by George Myatt. Wolff himself drove in the other runs, getting two hits and a sacrifice as he won his 15th game. The Nats knocked out Steve Gromek with four runs in the first inning of the second game but couldn't hold the margin. Cleveland peeked away at Santiago Ullrich and finally tied the score with two runs in the ninth on a homer by Mickey Rocco and doubled by Lambert Meyer and Les Fleming. Mickey Haefner gained his second win in as many days, pitching three relief innings as the Senators pushed over the winning run in the 11th on singles by Mike Kreevich and Dick Kimble and a fly by Buddy Lewis.

Detroit won, 4 to 1, from the visiting Athletics, but lost a half game in the intensifying race. Paul (Dizzy) Trout won his 13th game and his fourth in a row, holding the A's to seven scattered hits. Detroit could get only six off Bill Connelly, a Virginia Navy dischargee making his first big league start, but four were for extra bases. Hank Greenberg hit his seventh homer and a double to pace the attack.

Chicago topped the visiting Yankees, 6 to 5, in 11 innings when Mike Tresh doubled and Kerby Farrell singled him home. Tresh earlier had doubled in the last of the ninth to touch off a three-run rally which tied the score. Ed

EXTRA DAY MAY BE NEEDED FOR GRAND AMERICAN

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 23—Officials of the 46th annual Grand American trapshoot said today there was a possibility that the tournament might have to be extended an extra day in order to sandwich in all of the events.

Yesterday's championship event to decide the best shotgun artist among the various state champions in this year's tournament had to be called off in the face of a half hour downpour followed by a stiff wind which slowed down the shooters.

The finish will be shot off today along with the finals in some 13 other major and minor championships which were supposed to have been run off yesterday. The women's "champion of champions"—only title decided—went to Mrs. Ruth Knurth, of Indianapolis.

Entrants in the Grand itself—the Kentucky Derby of trapshoot—also were scheduled to start warming up for the actual competition tomorrow, raising the possibility that the competition might have to be carried into an extra day.

Bernie Judd, Hamilton, O., night club owner, was leading in the men's championship race with 198 out of 200 targets when the shooting was called off. Judd was the 1943 class B champion despite the fact that he has been firing only three years.

Lopot was shaky, but managed to win his ninth game, a 12-hitter.

The Browns and Red Sox split at St. Louis. Bob Muncie notched his eighth victory against two losses, giving the Browns a 4 to 2 victory in the opener. A two-run single by Milt Byrnes put the Browns in front to stay in the seventh. In the second game, the Browns handed the Red Sox a 5 to 4 victory on loose fielding and wildness by pitcher Weldon West, who walked six men. Mike Ryba won his fifth victory although he had to have help from rookie Dave Ferriss in the ninth when George McQuinn's two-run homer came within a run of tying the score. The Browns dropped to fourth behind Chicago.

There were no National League games scheduled.

Mrs. Lela Hall, of East Lynne, Mo., lead the women's division at the half-way mark with 96 out of 100 to lead Mrs. Knurth by one target. But the Indianapolis shooter was sure to repeat as "champion of champions" because Mrs. Hall did not shoot in a state meet.

This year's tournament again operated on a "bring your own shells" basis as result of the War Production Board's failure to lift controls on shotgun ammunition. Tournament officials said a "Victory Grand" might be held later, however, if ammunition is released.

Although the French composer, Berlioz, wrote many successful compositions, his first opera was a failure.

Charlotte Bronte, English author—"Jane Eyre," etc.—first wrote under the name of Currer Bell.

FELLER TO HURL FOR INDIANS FRIDAY NIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 23—Chief Specialist Bob Feller was on his way to Cleveland today to rejoin his former teammates and attempt to regain his stellar pitching role with the Cleveland Indians.

The husky Van Meter, Ia., player collected his last service pay from the Navy yesterday after almost four years service. Feller had compiled a total of 45 points, one more than required for discharge.

The 26-year-old fireball king said that he expected a few rough days while learning what he needs to know about opposition batters, but thought that his pitching chores at Great Lakes had kept him in "pretty good" condition.

Feller goes on the mound for the Indians in Cleveland stadium tomorrow night against the league-leading Detroit Tigers. Feller reported at Great Lakes last January after 29 months at sea and was placed in charge of the Bluejackets baseball team. He won nine of 11 games for Great Lakes.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent urination passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Wolff himself drove in the other runs, getting two hits and a sacrifice as he won his 15th game. The Nats knocked out Steve Gromek with four runs in the first inning of the second game but couldn't hold the margin. Cleveland peeked away at Santiago Ullrich and finally tied the score with two runs in the ninth on a homer by Mickey Rocco and doubled by Lambert Meyer and Les Fleming. Mickey Haefner gained his second win in as many days, pitching three relief innings as the Senators pushed over the winning run in the 11th on singles by Mike Kreevich and Dick Kimble and a fly by Buddy Lewis.

Detroit won, 4 to 1, from the visiting Athletics, but lost a half game in the intensifying race. Paul (Dizzy) Trout won his 13th game and his fourth in a row, holding the A's to seven scattered hits. Detroit could get only six off Bill Connelly, a Virginia Navy dischargee making his first big league start, but four were for extra bases. Hank Greenberg hit his seventh homer and a double to pace the attack.

Chicago topped the visiting Yankees, 6 to 5, in 11 innings when Mike Tresh doubled and Kerby Farrell singled him home. Tresh earlier had doubled in the last of the ninth to touch off a three-run rally which tied the score. Ed

EXTRA DAY MAY BE NEEDED FOR GRAND AMERICAN

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 23—Officials of the 46th annual Grand American trapshoot said today there was a possibility that the tournament might have to be extended an extra day in order to sandwich in all of the events.

Yesterday's championship event to decide the best shotgun artist among the various state champions in this year's tournament had to be called off in the face of a half hour downpour followed by a stiff wind which slowed down the shooters.

The finish will be shot off today along with the finals in some 13 other major and minor championships which were supposed to have been run off yesterday. The women's "champion of champions"—only title decided—went to Mrs. Ruth Knuth, of Indianapolis.

Entrants in the Grand itself—the Kentucky Derby of trapshooting—also were scheduled to start warming up for the actual competition tomorrow, raising the possibility that the competition might have to be carried into an extra day.

Bernie Judd, Hamilton, O., night club owner, was leading in the men's championship race with 198 out of 200 targets when the shooting was called off. Judd was the 1943 class B champion despite the fact that he has been firing only three years.

Lopat was shaky, but managed to win his ninth game, a 12-hitter.

The Browns and Red Sox split at St. Louis. Bob Muncie notched his eighth victory against two losses, giving the Browns a 4 to 2 victory in the opener. A two-run single by Milt Byrnes put the Browns in front to stay in the seventh. In the second game, the Browns handed the Red Sox a 5 to 4 victory on loose fielding and wildness by pitcher Weldon West, who walked six men. Mike Ryba won his fifth victory although he had to have help from rookie Dave Ferriss in the ninth when George McQuinn's two-run homer came within a run of tying the score. The Browns dropped to fourth behind Chicago.

There were no National League games scheduled.

Mrs. Lela Hall, of East Lynne, Mo., lead the women's division at the half-way mark with 96 out of 100 to lead Mrs. Knuth by one target. But the Indianapolis shooter was sure to repeat as "champion of champions" because Mrs. Hall did not shoot in a state meet.

This year's tournament again operated on a "bring your own shells" basis as result of the War Production Board's failure to lift controls on shotgun ammunition. Tournament officials said a "Victory Grand" might be held later, however, if ammunition is released.

Although the French composer, Berlioz, wrote many successful compositions, his first opera was a failure.

Charlotte Bronte, English author—"Jane Eyre," etc.—first wrote under the name of Currer Bell.

FELLER TO HURL FOR INDIANS FRIDAY NIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 23—Chief Specialist Bob Feller was on his way to Cleveland today to rejoin his former teammates and attempt to regain his stellar pitching role with the Cleveland Indians.

The husky Van Meter, Ia., player collected his last service pay from the Navy yesterday after almost four years service. Feller had compiled a total of 45 points, one more than required for discharge.

The 26-year-old fireball king said that he expected a few rough days while learning what he needs to know about opposition batters, but thought that his pitching chores at Great Lakes had kept him in "pretty good" condition.

Feller goes on the mound for the Indians in Cleveland stadium tomorrow night against the league-leading Detroit Tigers. Feller reported at Great Lakes last January after 29 months at sea and was placed in charge of the Bluejackets baseball team. He won nine of 11 games for Great Lakes.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent urination passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and low-value, restless sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The picnic held in Community Park Monday evening by the Primary Department of the Methodist Sunday School was well attended and everyone was reported as having a good time. The adult department of the Sunday School plans to hold a picnic for the entire school on Sunday, September 2 at Comm. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Puckett and family visited recently with Mr. Puckett's mother, Mrs. Martha Puckett at Honaker, Virginia.

Ashville Community Park with the meeting scheduled for 4:30. The entertainment committee is composed of L. W. Fullen, Mrs. Walter Harris, Ada Lou Beckett, Donna Purcell, Richard Hudson, and Edwin Irwin. The table committee is Mrs. Herbert Swayer, Mrs. Charles Trone, Mrs. Roy Hedges, and Mrs. Edwin Irwin.

Fred Puckett and Bill Speakman were Wednesday dinner guests of Jim Irwin. The Ashville-Harrison Board of Education met Tuesday evening with the paying of bills and other routine business occupying most of the time. The opening date for the local schools was set for Tuesday, September 4 with a teachers' meeting scheduled for Monday afternoon. School may be dismissed on Friday in order that pupils may attend the Junior Fair and see and hear Gov. Frank Lausche.

The Ashville K. of P. softball team will play a picked team from Franklin county K. of P. lodges Sunday at Westgate Park, Columbus at 4:00. Members of local lodges are invited to attend a picnic at the same park on that date.

JAP STATUS

If any Americans have regarded our treatment of the surrendering Japanese as severe or unsportsmanlike, they might well have saved their sympathy. For of all the wars in which our nation has been forced to engage, the war launched and fought by the Japanese has been the least justifiable and the most dishonorable.

It has been dishonorable in its origin, because it was started and waged without any provocation, and in disregard of treaties. As regards legitimacy of purpose, any such claim was ridiculous, because Japan had no more right to seize American territory than America would have had to seize Japanese territory. And not only was the Japanese assault predatory, but its military operations were as barbarous as those of American Indians in their most savage period.

The inevitable conclusion is that the Japanese themselves, as a nation and a race, are still barbarous, and must be so treated until the barbarism is bred out of them. This is a possible achievement. But the period of development and ultimate acceptance of the Japanese on equal terms into the family of nations depends on their own choice and procedure. Having forfeited international faith in them, they start again with a severe handicap.

SPEED

WITH so many thousand people flocking into the service stations with a joyous order to "fill 'er up", it is evident that there will soon be an immense traffic on the highways again. Few people will deny that the prospect is attractive and enlivening. As rapidly as reconversion permits, the automobile factories will be pouring out their latest cars. By next spring the highways will be jammed again with joy riders and travelers.

The accidents will be mounting up, perhaps, at a rather frightening rate, increasing as the new cars are added and the old cars are going to pieces. And by another year or two, thousands of drivers will probably conclude that it is safer in the air, and rush orders for private planes.

Then in another couple of years we may have the same kind of trouble in the air that we have had on the ground, with people in airplane accidents falling all over the landscape. Safety will still be our motto, but speed will be our choice, and the two will never agree.

OCCUPYING JAPAN

LET the Chinese occupy Japan. This solution to the occupation problem has much support in the United States. On paper it looks perfect. The Chinese know the Japanese, have no inclination to be unduly soft, and are numerous enough to do it. Occupation of Japan would also do something to relieve the ever-present Chinese employment problem.

On paper it looks perfect. Can there be a catch in it? There are catches in so many things which look well on paper.

Labor Gets Ready
For New Demands

—Let Employer Pay
For Social Security

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—One of labor's prime post-war goals will be to obtain social security or welfare funds financed by employers. When contracts are reopened or new ones negotiated in the future, this proposition will rank high among labor's demands.

The big CIO United Automobile Workers' union already has formulated a welfare or insurance scheme calling for employer contributions totaling three per cent of the insured worker's average earnings.

New York's recent three-week newspaper deliverymen's strike stemmed largely from such a welfare fund demand.

John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers who dropped his coal royalty demand to sign a new wage contract a few months ago, now advises local unions that the issue is not dead.

THERE IS A GENUINE FEELING in Washington that unemployment won't be as bad as some experts predict nor will the process of reconverting to peace-time production bog down and bring industrial chaos.

Materials for reconversion are plentiful, says WPB chief Julius Krug. In fact, he predicts, they will be "running out of our ears." Full-speed ahead for industry on a peace-time basis will mean most of the unemployed will be quickly reabsorbed, leaving the "normal" two to three and a half million unemployed.

Congress is expected to take a harshly realistic view toward protecting the nation against widespread unemployment, and the gov-

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—When the addicts huddle and fan about the merits of the left hands of various boogie-woogie experts, you never hear a word about Lou Levy. That's because he's not a performer but merely the guy who controls about 85 per cent of the published eight-to-the-bar type of rhythm.

Levy is Leeds Music Corp. In a well tailored suit. And sometimes he's referred to as "the fourth Andrews sister" because he's not only the mentor of the famous rhythm singing trio but the husband of one of them, Maxene.

You not only look to Leeds for boogie-woogie, but also for practically any new novelty song that gets into your ear. The odds are that if it's crazy enough Levy published it.

There is, for example, the current menace called "Please No Squeezas Da Banana." Before that there was "One Meat Ball." And almost any of the recent boogie songs you can name. He even puts out a boogie-woogie instruction book for kids.

As music publishers go Levy is practically a tyro. He kicked himself into the business six and a half years ago out of aggravation at his own chuckle-headedness.

"Because I was managing the Andrews sisters people were always coming to me with novelty rhythm songs," he explained. "Once in a while we'd strike a good one and I'd persuade some publisher to put it on the market where it promptly went places. After I had done this with 'Flat Foot Floogie' and 'Bei Mir Bist du Schoen' I suddenly realized I was throwing money away. The publishers were just sitting on their hip pockets reaping profits on something I had given them."

After that Levy started his own firm. He isn't deaf to a good ballad or "sweet" song either. "All or Nothing at All" is his and he feels it had a lot to do with making Sinatra, "He's My Guy" and "Jim" are a couple of others of this type. And he doesn't miss any angles. He not only published Dick Charles' "Along the Navajo Trail" but sold it both as a song and a title to Republic pictures for a Roy Rogers western.

Here are a couple of tips about the music business from Levy. If you have a ballad type of song that is a hit you make your money largely from the sheet music sales. With a novelty hit the sheet music sales may be only a fraction of those of a ballad, but how that money rolls in from the sales of records. Leeds Music, for example, has benefited from the sale of some 50,000,000 records featuring its songs, but its sheet music sales are well under that total.

There is one number in the Leeds catalogue that is strictly for laughs. Visitors get a copy upon leaving the office. "Keep in touch with the office" is the name of it and the song is simply a recital of all the angles of that time-worn brushoff so familiar along Broadway and in Hollywood—"nothing doing now but keep in touch with the office."

The announcement that Broadway has been awaiting for many years came today from Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein—they're reviving their famous musical, "Show Boat" in December at that (Continued on Page Eight)

"Oh, I'll get more tires somehow." You might be wrong, brother; you might be wrong. Better take good care of the ones you have a little longer.

The most blessed word in the language is peace.

DIET AND HEALTH

The Commonsense Viewpoint About A Common Complaint

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN, M. D.

HABITUAL constipation or sluggish action of the intestines is a disorder of the colon or large bowel. Many people are constipated but few really suffer any pain or other symptoms from the condition, and those who do, suffer more in mind than in body.

According to Doctor T. L. Hardy of England, constipation, in practically all cases, is the result of faulty training. Individuals vary a great deal in the number of bowel movements they have each day. A survey was made of people between the ages of 14 and 63 years, and it was found that about one-half had a bowel action once a day, two-fifths more than once a day, and the remainder less often than once a day; yet, all of these people were normal in every way. In other words, being constipated does not depend on the frequency of the bowel action, but upon regularity and the absence of discomfort or undue effort.

Various Changes

Many things, such as change of occupation, change of climate, simple glandular disturbances, and emotional upsets, may disturb regularity of habit. It has been stated that perhaps one of the most common causes of constipation is the suppression of the desire at various times during the day.

In treating constipation it is important that there be no feeling of anxiety because bowel action does not occur. Another factor which contributes to the development and maintenance of constipation is the wrong use of laxatives. In the survey referred to above it was found that about one-fourth of those studied took laxatives twice a week or more often.

Some people take laxatives because they are afraid they may occasionally miss an action of the bowels. Then, there are others who begin the habit to get rid of a symptom, which they think is due to constipation, such as headache, tiredness or excessive gas in the intestines. There are still others who start the habit because they are influenced by advertising or in other ways.

Nervous Disorders

There is a certain type of constipation which is due to nervous disorders. This is called spastic constipation. The individual with this condition should endeavor to overcome the excessive nervousness. Strain, both emotional and physical, should be avoided, and the patient should be taught to have no anxiety concerning the matter of bowel action.

Diet is helpful in the treatment of all kinds of constipation. In the type due to nervousness, a bland diet should be used, that is, one which is free from highly-seasoned and bulky foods. Severe constipation is a disorder which should be treated under the direction of a physician. He will decide what type of constipation is present and outline the treatment which will correct it most quickly.

EMPEROR HIROHITO OF JAPAN is the focal point of an official American tug-of-war, with one faction pulling for his eventual arrest and trial as a war criminal and the other for his use as a rallying point for the "new" Japan.

Those who want to spare his life contend that only the military in Japan should be blamed for starting the Pacific conflict. The emperor, these people say, actually had no control over his war-lords once they decided on world conquest.

Russia's belated entrance into the Jap war may complicate that debate because the Soviet Union may decide on its own hook that Hirohito is a war criminal. In fact, it is believed that Russia may look favorably upon leftist elements in Japan who undoubtedly are planning to set up their own government when they get a chance.

THE WPB, BUSY WITH a thousand and one weighty reconversion problems, took time out the other day to help Mr. and Mrs. America button up their war-produced clothing.

It announced "priorities assistance" for manufacturers of tape for zippers, buttons, buttonholes, hook and eyes and snap fasteners. Not to be outdone, the OPA came out with the announcement that it was postponing its proposed new price schedule for popcorn.

THERE IS A STRONG BELIEF in Washington that Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, the commander-hero of Corregidor, may be assigned to aid Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the occupation of Japan.

But this depends on the condition of Wainwright who was forced to surrender in the dark, early days of the war and has been a prisoner of the Japanese ever since.

If Wainwright has been decently treated and fairly well fed, and still maintains his health, it is likely he will go to Japan after a rest at home in the states. If the Japanese have abused Wainwright, there is little doubt but that it will go harder with them than if they have accorded him decent treatment.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, August 23

While there is some prospect of fair success, with moderate objectives, hopes and wishes, yet it is probable that this must be won by astute and clever as well as cautious management of trying situations and problems as they arise. There are signs of tricky and dubious conditions concerning writings, contracts, with agencies and public relations personnel, in which event it might be advisable to make new agreements, with fresh associations. Obstacles in all relations may best be surmounted by change of place, position, or personalities.

Those whose birthday it is may best circumvent obstacles, bad predicaments and problems by a definite change of jobs, associates, tactics and agreements as well as environs, in business, profession, and home or social relations. These seem to be beset by disagreements, misunderstandings, which might profit by wise counsel from dependable persons in high places. With caution there might be success, prosperity and happiness.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

Smoke obscured the road ahead; a cloud covered the whole mountain. This murky morning was ideal though for investigating Tories' Cave. The Jones mansion, which housed the blonde sorceress and her spies, was invisible behind this misty veil, even the gateposts shrouded in fog. She stole warily past, her hand in the creel, clutching the revolver; then a short climb took her to the Pettis place, boarded up, unoccupied. . . . Soon she approached the cave.

The stars were gone, the sky had a lemonish cast, the light was a paler gray now. Formed by some long ago earthquake, the ravine was a jumble of mammoth rocks and boulders. Even on the hottest days of summer, an icy chill pervaded the spot; indeed, she had seen snow there as late as August.

Eleonore found the ravine opening and started down the descent. The plank bridges had been taken up recently, the ladders chopped down. She surmounted the big rocks, held on to saplings to drop down to a dim footing below. . . . The cave must be on the right.

Hacked by apprehension that the spot might be guarded even at this hour, she waited, listening for a minute, then stole forward. Concealed under leaning boulders was the entrance to Tories' Cave.

Eleonore stepped in, played her flashlight over the flinty chamber, some fifteen feet long and ten feet wide, with a pool in the center. A fluttering overhead made her shrink back until bats emerged from the opening. The floor was marked by heavy shoes; some one had been here recently. She searched for the entrance to the second chamber and found a slanting corridor, through which she proceeded.

In this second, larger room, her light picked up rows of wooden boxes undoubtedly containing rifles, machine guns, etc. And here—she caught her breath—were sinister cylinders—scores of bombs! The room was crammed full, leaving only a small hole to a third unit.

Eleonore climbed up on the boxes, crawling along their tops close to the clammy ceiling. Head and shoulders inside the hole, her light revealed another arsenal. In her haste to get out and take action, she scraped the skin from her shoulders. So momentous was this discovery that she resolved to go by train this very day and tell C. L. C. of the cache.

She was dropping from the boxes when she heard gruff voices of men. Swiftly she went back and lay supine on a stack of rifle boxes, close to the roof.

A dim gleam penetrated the darkness when her flash was off. Those men had lanterns. Eleonore heard footsteps, the heavy thump of wood on stone, then a sliding rumble. Echoes bounded about the narrow space. Someone said, "The last load!" and "the last load—last load!" echoed hollowly in her hiding place.

More TNT . . . dynamite . . . grenades, guns, bombs—that was what they were bringing in!

A prisoner here until they departed—safe enough until then, Eleonore told herself, since both rooms were full. No one came through the corridor as the moments passed. She heard whispers and an irritable, "Be careful!" The ghostly echo mocked: "Be careful—careful!" The rifles (some were loose on top of the boxes) pressed into her, but she dare not move. . . . It must have been more than two hours before the voices became fainter as if coming from the entrance. Then she heard the thump of rocks being laid down. Were they closing the opening—cementing her in? Chilly as she was, she burst out in sweat at that thought.

The hammering ceased shortly. She waited through a period in which there was no sound but her own magnified breathing. This was unendurable. Surely it was safe to move now, at least to the corridor. . . .

Stealthily, Eleonore inched her way through the opening, traversed the explosives in the next space, crawled down, waited in the darkness before putting on her light in the corridor. Then she saw the new barrier of boxes piled before the exit from the corridor to the first cave. Only a cat could slip through the hole at the top!

Eleonore couldn't budge the boxes. She would never reach the rocky entrance, never traverse the glen, the ridge road back home!

As the hours passed, Eleonore became hungry and thirsty. She slept fitfully, then would wake, not knowing whether it was night or day. Dreams of Tories, of playing badminton with Bill Steuben, of watching Mamie broil ham, chased through her sleep. Visions of tables laden with food began to torment her. Her head ached; her tongue was dry. She lapped some water from the floor. She wished she had worn her watch, then she could count the hours. A derisive chuckle burst from her. For what?

Scenes of her childhood, her family, thronged about her; other faces she had forgotten; unimportant scenes etched distinctly; her schools, her comrades. . . . "My whole life is coming back to me, the way they say it does," she thought with alarm. "I must be dying."

Doris Bartley put down the receiver frowning, then went to prepare the children's lunch. It was really very inconsiderate of Eleonore to upset Mamie. The poor soul, nervous from the tragedy last week, sounded hysterical just now, all because Eleonore had left before daylight on a sketching trip and hadn't come back. Goodness, it was only half-past eleven in the morning, nothing was going to happen to her!

Doris had reassured Mamie and told her that Eleonore would be turning up at noon, to call her back as soon as she arrived. Mamie said she was scared, for a lot of folks thought "those Joneses were Fifth Columnists." Now wasn't that fantastic—a man with the polish and breeding of Mr. Jones!

As the noon hour passed and no call came, forebodings disturbed Doris. Eleonore could have slipped and broken her leg; she could have wandered off a victim of amnesia. . . . H'mm, that last was it! Silent and absent-minded during the funeral, Eleonore might suffer a breakdown. A sudden twinge of conscience moved Doris. Her decision did not take long.

Doris took the two o'clock train to Sweetsburg, and at three-thirty, with bulging suitcases and two babies, arrived at her old home in a taxi. After Mamie's tale of the promise to be back before eight, Doris tried to be very calm.

"You keep the kids from killing themselves and I'll run the old bus up the road, go into the woods and search for her."

Mamie clutched her. "You'll not go off alone if I have to tie you up! Where's Mr. Bartley?"

"He's coming tonight if we don't find her . . . I'll call the school bus stopping with Sukey. We'll all go, you and Sukey and the babies."

But excursions into the woods from the top of the mountain road, hallooing and calling Eleonore's name, brought no results. Doris telephoned various friends asking if Eleonore had been there, although it was a forlorn hope since none of them lived within walking distance.

Doris phoned Theron to come at once; the more she heard, the worse it got. "El" was all worked up over Fifth Columnists, the night before she had been raving that crazy people were calling her up! Floundering a gun too! This morning she went off with the gun in her bag, emphasizing to Mamie that it was her last word.

What a trying life "El" had had the past three years! Her fiancé killed in an airplane crash; then Dad's death last summer, Gran's death, Arthur in thick of the Pacific fight, Eben in uniform . . . enough to send a sensitive mind off balance!

Theron was not impressed with his wife's theory of suicide when she met him at the seven o'clock train. "El" wasn't that kind—but she probably was lost. They would get searchers to go out tonight. Had she reported it to the police?

Doris wailed that you didn't report a sister's disappearance to the police; it just wasn't done: think of the publicity! But Theron drove to the police station.

Chief MacCallister listened to Theron attentively. "It's just lost she is, Mr. Bartley," he agreed. He opened his pad. "Where does your sister live?"

"On November Road."

The chief wrote that down. "And the name—Eleonore Bartley?"

"No. The name is Eleonore Lawrence; she's my sister-in-law."

The swivel chair squeaked, the pencil fell. The chief muttered, "Wurra!"

"You seem to know that name," said Theron.

"The name, yes. That, I don't mind telling you, puts a different complexion on the matter. Excuse me for a short time, please take a seat." The chief left the room. Ten minutes later he came back, muttering something about 'phone calls; he had sent someone to interview the servant before starting the search. He himself would stay here and organize a dragnet if she were not found by morning.

JAP STATUS

IF any Americans have regarded our treatment of the surrendering Japanese as severe or unsportsmanlike, they might well have saved their sympathy. For of all the wars in which our nation has been forced to engage, the war launched and fought by the Japanese has been the least justifiable and the most dishonorable. It has been dishonorable in its origin, because it was started and waged without any provocation, and in disregard of treaties. As regards legitimacy of purpose, any such claim was ridiculous, because Japan had no more right to seize American territory than America would have had to seize Japanese territory. And not only was the Japanese assault predatory, but its military operations were as barbarous as those of American Indians in their most savage period.

The inevitable conclusion is that the Japanese themselves, as a nation and a race, are still barbarous, and must be so treated until the barbarism is bred out of them. This is a possible achievement. But the period of development and ultimate acceptance of the Japanese on equal terms into the family of nations depends on their own choice and procedure. Having forfeited international faith in them, they start again with a severe handicap.

WITH so many thousand people flocking into the service stations with a joyous order to "fill 'er up", it is evident that there will soon be an immense traffic on the highways again. Few people will deny that the prospect is attractive and enlivening. As rapidly as reconversion permits, the automobile factories will be pouring out their latest cars. By next spring the highways will be jammed again with joy riders and travelers.

The accidents will be mounting up, perhaps, at a rather frightening rate, increasing as the new cars are added and the old cars are going to pieces. And by another year or two, thousands of drivers will probably conclude that it is safer in the air, and rush orders for private planes.

Then in another couple of years we may have the same kind of trouble in the air that we have had on the ground, with people in airplane accidents falling all over the landscape. Safety will still be our motto, but speed will be our choice, and the two will never agree.

OCCUPYING JAPAN

LET the Chinese occupy Japan. This solution to the occupation problem has much support in the United States. On paper it looks perfect. The Chinese know the Japanese, have no inclination to be unduly soft, and are numerous enough to do it. Occupation of Japan would also do something to relieve the ever-present Chinese employment problem.

On paper it looks perfect. Can there be a catch in it? There are catches in so many things which look well on paper.

Labor Gets Ready
For New Demands

—Let Employer Pay
For Social Security

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—One of labor's prime post-war goals will be to obtain social security or welfare funds financed by employers. When contracts are reopened or new ones negotiated in the future, this proposition will rank high among labor's demands.

The big CIO Automobile Workers' union already has formulated a welfare or insurance scheme calling for employer contributions totaling three per cent of the insured worker's average earnings.

New York's recent three-week newspaper deliverymen's strike stemmed largely from such a welfare fund demand.

John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers who dropped his coal royalty demand to sign a new wage contract a few months ago, now advises local unions that the issue is not dead.

THERE IS A GENUINE FEELING in Washington that unemployment won't be as bad as some experts predict nor will the process of reconverting to peace-time production bog down and bring industrial chaos.

Materials for reconversion are plentiful, says WPB chief Julius Krug. In fact, he predicts, they will be "running out of our ears." Full-speed ahead for industry on a peace-time basis will mean most of the unemployed will be quickly reabsorbed, leaving the "normal" two to two and a half million unemployed.

Congress is expected to take a harshly realistic view toward protecting the nation against widespread unemployment, and the government is planning to keep controls over prices, rent and production.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—When the addicts huddle and fan about the merits of the left hands of various boogie-woogie experts, you never hear a word about Lou Levy. That's because he's not a performer but merely the guy who controls about 85 per cent of the published eight-to-the-bar type of rhythm.

Levy is Leeds Music Corp. In a well tailored suit. And sometimes he's referred to as "the fourth Andrews sister" because he's not only the mentor of the famous rhythm singing trio but the husband of one of them, Maxene.

You not only look to Leeds for boogie-woogie, but also for practically any new novelty song that gets into your ear. The odds are that if it's crazy enough Levy published it.

There is, for example, the current menace called "Please No Squeeze Da Banana." Before that there was "One Meat Ball." And almost any of the recent boogie songs you can name. He even puts out a boogie-woogie instruction book for kids.

As music publishers go Levy is practically a tyro. He kicked himself into the business six and a half years ago out of aggravation at his own chuckle-headedness.

"Because I was managing the Andrews sisters people were always coming to me with novelty rhythm songs," he explained.

"Once in a while we'd strike a good one and I'd persuade some publisher to put it on the market where it promptly went places. After I had done this with 'Flat Foot Floogie' and 'Bei Mir Bist du Schoen' I suddenly realized I was throwing money away. The publishers were just sitting on their hip pockets reaping profits on something I had given them."

After that Levy started his own firm. He isn't deaf to a good ballad or "sweet" song either. "All or Nothing at All" is his and he feels it had a lot to do with making Sinatra, "He's My Guy" and "Jim" are a couple of others of this type. And he doesn't miss any angles. He not only published Dick Charles' "Along the Navajo Trail" but sold it both as a song and a title to Republic pictures for a Roy Rogers western.

Here are a couple of tips about the music business from Levy. If you have a ballad type of song that is a hit you make your money largely from the sheet music sales. With a novelty hit the sheet music sales may be only a fraction of those of a ballad, but how that money rolls in from the sales of records. Leeds Music, for example, has benefited from the sale of some 50,000,000 records featuring its songs, but its sheet music sales are well under that total.

There is one number in the Leeds catalogue that is strictly for laughs. Visitors get a copy upon leaving the office. "Keep in touch with the office" is the name of it and the song is simply a recital of all the angles of that time-worn brushoff so familiar along Broadway and in Hollywood—"nothing doing now but keep in touch with the office."

The Commonsense Viewpoint About A Common Complaint

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

HABITUAL constipation or sluggish action of the intestines is a disorder of the colon or large bowel. Many people are constipated but few really suffer any pain or other symptoms from the condition, and those who do, suffer more in mind than in body.

According to Doctor T. L. Hardy of England, constipation, in practically all cases, is the result of faulty training. Individuals vary a great deal in the number of bowel movements they have each day. A survey was made of people between the ages of 14 and 63 years, and it was found that about one-half had a bowel action once a day, and the remainder less often than once a day; yet, all of these people were normal in every way. In other words, being constipated does not depend on the frequency of the bowel action, but upon regularity and the absence of discomfort or undue effort.

Various Changes

Many things, such as change of occupation, change of climate, simple glandular disturbances, and emotional upsets, may disturb regularity of habit. It has been stated that perhaps one of the most common causes of constipation is the suppression of the desire at various times during the day.

In treating constipation it is important that there be no feeling of anxiety because bowel action does not occur. Another factor which contributes to the development and maintenance of constipation is the wrong use of laxatives. In the survey referred to above it was found that about one-fourth of those studied took laxatives twice a week or more often. Some people take laxatives because they are afraid they may occasionally miss an action of the bowels. Then, there are others who begin the habit to get rid of a symptom, which they think is due to constipation, such as headache, tiredness or excessive gas in the intestines. There are still others who start the habit because they are influenced by advertising or in other ways.

Nervous Disorders

There is a certain type of constipation which is due to nervous disorders. This is called spastic constipation. The individual with this condition should endeavor to overcome the excessive nervousness. Strain, both emotional and physical, should be avoided, and the patient should be taught to have no anxiety concerning the matter of bowel action.

Diet is helpful in the treatment of all kinds of constipation. In the type due to nervousness, a bland diet should be used, that is, one which is free from highly-seasoned and bulky foods. Severe constipation is a disorder which should be treated under the direction of a physician. He will decide what type of constipation is present and outline the treatment which will correct it most quickly.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, August 23

While there is some prospect of fair success, with moderate objectives, hopes and wishes, yet it is probable that this must be won by astute and clever as well as cautious management of trying situations and problems as they arise. There are signs of tricky and dubious conditions concerning writings, contracts, with agencies and public relations personnel, in which event it might be advisable to make new agreements, with fresh associations. Obstacles in all relations may best be surmounted by change of place, position, or personalities.

Those whose birthday it is may best circumvent obstacles, bad predicaments and problems by a definite change of jobs, associates, tactics and agreements as well as environs, in business, profession, and home or social relations. These seem to be beset by disagreements, misunderstandings, which might profit by wise counsel from dependable persons in high places. With caution there might be success, prosperity and happiness.

A child born on this day may be fairly efficient and ambitious but is subject to cheating, distortions and other wrangling and fraud, unless advised by superiors.

Motor cars of the near future, we read, will have no radiator caps. It'll seem funny—going for a drive without being preceded by a tiny ship model or a statuette of a goat or whippet.

There's now a suggestion that northern waters may be heated by atomic energy. The man at the next desk wonders if this will reduce icebergs to the size of highball cubes.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

Smoke obscured the road ahead; a cloud covered the whole mountain. This murky morning was ideal though for investigating Torie's Cave. The Jones mansion, which housed the blonde sorceress and her misty veil, even the gateposts shrouded in fog. She stole warily past, her hand in the creel, clutching the revolver; then a short climb took her to the Pettis place, boarded up, unoccupied. . . . Soon she approached the cave.

The stars were gone, the sky had a lemon cast, the light was a pale gray now. Formed by some long ago earthquake, the ravine was a jumble of mammoth rocks and boulders. Even on the hottest days of summer, an icy chill pervaded the spot; indeed, she had seen snow there as late as August.

Eleonore found the ravine opening and started down the descent. The plank bridges had been taken up recently, the ladders chopped down. She surmounted the big rocks, held on to saplings to drop down to a dim footing below. . . . The cave must be on the right. Hacked by apprehension that the spot might be guarded even at this hour, she waited, listening for a minute, then stole forward. Concealed under leaning boulders was the entrance to Torie's Cave.

Eleonore stepped in, played her flashlight over the flinty chamber, some fifteen feet long and ten feet wide, with a pool in the center. A fluttering overhead made her shrink back until bats emerged from the opening. The floor was marked by heavy shoes; some one had been here recently. She searched for the entrance to the second chamber and found a slanting corridor, through which she proceeded.

In this second, larger room, her light picked up rows of wooden boxes undoubtedly containing rifles, machine guns, etc. And here—she caught her breath—were sinister cylinders—scores of bombs! The room was crammed full, leaving only a small hole to a third unit.

Eleonore climbed up on the boxes, crawling along their tops close to the clammy ceiling. Head and shoulders inside the hole, her light revealed another arsenal. In her haste to get out and take action, she scraped the skin from her shoulders. So momentous was this discovery that she resolved to go by train this very day and tell C. L. C. of the case.

She was dropping from the boxes when she heard gruff voices of men. Swiftly she went back and lay supine on a stack of rifle boxes, close to the roof.

A dim gleam penetrated the darkness after her flash was off. Those men had lanterns. Eleonore heard footsteps, the heavy thump of wood on stone, then a sliding rumble. Echoes bounded about the narrow space. Someone said, "The last load!" and "the last load—last load!" echoed hollowly in her hiding place.

More TNT . . . dynamite . . . grenades, guns, bombs—that was what they were bringing in!

A prisoner here until they departed—safe enough until then, Eleonore told herself, since both rooms

were full. No one came through the corridor as the moments passed. She heard whispers and an irritable, "Be careful!" The ghostly echo mocked: "Be careful—careful!"

The rifles (some were loose on top of the boxes) pressed into her, but she dare not move. . . . It must have been more than two hours before the voices became fainter as if coming from the entrance. Then she heard the thump of rocks being laid down. Were they closing the opening—cementing her in? Chilly as she was, she burst out in sweat at that thought.

The hammering ceased shortly. She waited through a period in which there was no sound but her own magnified breathing. This was unendurable. Surely it was safe to move now, at least to the corridor. . . .

Stealthily, Eleonore inched her way through the opening, traversed the explosive in the next space, crawled down, waited in the darkness before putting on her light in the corridor. Then she saw the new barrier of boxes piled before the exit from the corridor to the first cave. Only a cat could slip through the hole at the top!

Eleonore couldn't budge the boxes. She would never reach the rocky entrance, never traverse the gien, the ridge road back home. . . . As the hours passed, Eleonore became hungry and thirsty. She slept fitfully, then would waken not knowing whether it was night or day. Dreams of Torie, of playing badminton with Bill Steuben, of watching Mamie broil ham, chased through her sleep. Visions of tables laden with food began to torment her. Her head ached; her tongue was dry. She lapped some water from the floor. She wished she had worn her watch, then she could count the hours. A derisive chuckle burst from her. For what?

Scenes of her childhood, her family, thronged about her; other faces she had forgotten; unimportant scenes etched distinctly; her schools, her comrades. . . . "My whole life is coming back to me, the way they say it does," she thought with alarm. "I must be dying."

Doris Bartley put down the receiver frowning, then went to prepare the children's lunch. It was really very inconsiderate of Eleonore to upset Mamie. The poor soul, nervous from the tragedy last week, sounded hysterical just now, all because Eleonore had left before daylight on a sketching trip and hadn't come back. Goodness, it was only half-past eleven in the morning—nothing was going to happen to her!

Doris had reassured Mamie and told her that Eleonore would be turning up at noon, to call her back as soon as she arrived. Mamie said she was scared, for a lot of folks thought "those Joneses were Fifth Columnists." Now wasn't that fantastic—a man with the polish and breeding of Mr. Jones!

As the noon hour passed and no call came, forebodings disturbed Doris. Eleonore could have blipped and broken her leg; she could have wandered off a victim of amnesia. . . . H'mm, that last was it! Silent and absent-minded during the funeral, Eleonore might suffer a breakdown. A sudden twinge of conscience moved Doris. Her decision did not take long.

Doris took the two o'clock train to Sweetburg, and at three-thirty, with bulging suitcases and two babies, arrived at her old home in a taxi. After Mamie's tale of the promise to be back before eight, Doris tried to be very calm.

"You keep the kids from killing themselves and I'll run the old bus up the road, go into the woods and search for her."

Mamie clutched her. "You'll not go off alone! I have to tie you up! Where's Mr. Bartley?"

"He's coming tonight if we don't find her. . . . Here's the school bus stopping with Sukey. We'll all go, you and Sukey and the babies."

But excursions into the woods from the top of the mountain road, hallooing and calling Eleonore's name, brought no results. Doris telephoned various friends asking if Eleonore had been there, although it was a forlorn hope since none of them lived within walking distance.

Doris phoned Theron to come at once; the more she heard, the worse it got: "El" was all worked up over Fifth Columnists, the night before she had been raving that crazy people were calling her up! Flourished a gun! This morning she went off with the gun in her bag, emphasizing to Mamie that it was her last walk.

What a trying life "El" had had the past three years! Her fiancé killed in an airplane crash; then Dad's death last summer, Gran's last week, Arthur in thick of the Pacific fight, Eben in uniform. . . . enough to send a sensitive mind off balance!

Theron was not impressed with his wife's theory of suicide when she met him at the seven o'clock train. "El" wasn't that kind—but she probably was lost. They would get searchers to go out tonight. Had she reported it to the police?

Doris waited that you didn't report a sister's disappearance to the police! It just wasn't done: think of the publicity! But Theron drove to the police station.

Chief MacCallister listened to Theron attentively. "It's just lost she is, Mr. Bartley," he agreed. He opened his pad. "Where does your sister live?"

"On November Road." "The chief wrote that down." "And the name—Eleonore Bartley?"

"No. The name is Eleonore Lawrence; she's my sister-in-law."

The swirl chair squeaked, the pencil fell. The chief muttered, "Wurra!"

"You seem to know that name," said Theron.

"The name, yes. That, I don't mind telling you, puts a different complexion on the matter. Excuse me for a short time; please take a seat." The chief left the room. Ten minutes later he came back, muttering something about "phone calls; he had sent someone to interview the servant before starting the search. warning North about how the hearts were bunched.

South likewise knew North as an extremely deceptive bidder. But he also knew West to be of the same type. In view of his own holding, he could see it was utterly unlikely that both North and West were making sound bids. Not enough cards were out. There could clearly be a good motive for North to psyche that opening, but South could not think of any reason at all why a sane player in the West would make that double while vulnerable if it was a psychic. He decided North was making the first psychic of his career and so passed the 3-Spades instead of going to game.

West, of course, made 3-Spades a game bid by doubling, then assured success of the contract by making the natural lead—in view of East's bid—of the club A. South lost only one trick each in clubs and spades, two in diamonds. East and West got psyched out of a game in hearts, at which they could have scored five-odd, losing two spade tricks.

Plans For Installation Completed By Sigma Phi

100 Are Expected To Attend Affair In Columbus

About 100 members of various chapters of the Sigma Phi Gamma International sorority are expected to attend the formal installation of the Circleville chapter, September 22 and 23 at the Seneca hotel in Columbus.

The week end will open with registration from 2 to 4 p. m. on Saturday. In the evening there will be a pledge service followed by mock initiation and a dance in the ball room of the hotel.

Sunday, the formal installation will take place at 10:30 a. m. and a banquet is being planned for 1 o'clock in the dining room.

The local chapter will receive the name of Beta Kappa. Mrs. Irene Waters Worley, a life founder, is expected to be present and Mrs. Pauline Whitesel, international organizer, and Mrs. John Hall, Gamma province organizer, will attend. Members met Wednesday evening in the business and professional women's club rooms to complete the plans.

Mrs. Frank Geib and Mrs. James Groce were appointed on the invitation committee. Miss Barbara Caskey will be the registration chairman for the installation.

The favor committee is composed of Mrs. Geib and Miss Caskey. Dinner decorations will be in charge of Miss Betty Clifton.

An invitation was read from the Piqua chapter to attend their installation in Dayton, Sept. 8 at the Miami hotel. The group decided to accept the invitation of the Coshocton chapter to visit over Labor day week end.

Wednesday, Aug. 29, plans were made for a dinner at the Fox Farm and the next regular meeting will take place, Sept. 5 at the home of Miss Caskey, North Court street.

75 Attend Meeting Of Nebraska Grange

Seventy-five members and visitors were present for the Nebraska Grange meeting, Tuesday evening. Joseph Peters, worthy master, was in charge of the meeting, during which Harold Hughes, master of the Clear Creek Valley grange and Walter Burger, master of the Soloto Valley grange, gave short talks. Kenneth Holtrey announced the Junior Fair, which will be held September 5 to 8.

Plans For Installation Completed By Sigma Phi

100 Are Expected To Attend Affair In Columbus

About 100 members of various chapters of the Sigma Phi Gamma International sorority are expected to attend the formal installation of the Circleville chapter, September 22 and 23 at the Seneca hotel in Columbus.

The week end will open with registration from 2 to 4 p. m. on Saturday. In the evening there will be a pledge service followed by mock initiation and a dance in the ball room of the hotel.

Sunday, the formal installation will take place at 10:30 a. m. and a banquet is being planned for 1 o'clock in the dining room.

The local chapter will receive the name of Beta Kappa. Mrs. Irene Waters Worley, a life founder, is expected to be present and Mrs. Pauline Whitesell, international organizer, and Mrs. John Hall, Gamma province organizer, will attend.

Members met Wednesday evening in the Business and Professional Women's club rooms to complete the plans.

Mrs. Frank Geib and Mrs. James Groce were appointed on the invitation committee. Miss Barbara Caskey will be the registration chairman for the installation.

The favor committee is composed of Mrs. Geib and Miss Caskey. Dinner decorations will be in charge of Miss Betty Clifton.

An invitation was read from the Piqua chapter to attend their installation in Dayton, Sept. 8 at the Miami hotel. The group decided to accept the invitation of the Coshocton chapter to visit over Labor day week end.

Wednesday, Aug. 29, plans were made for a dinner at the Fox Farm and the next regular meeting will take place, Sept. 5 at the home of Miss Caskey, North Court street.

most appropriate of all places, the Ziegfeld theatre.

It was at the Ziegfeld that the late Flo Ziegfeld first produced this show Dec. 27, 1927. It closed May 4, 1929, although it could have gone on indefinitely. Ziegfeld revived it at another house in 1932 and died a short time later. Ever since the first revival there has been talk season after season of another revival, but there were always casting or other difficulties.

Kern and Hammerstein are using the Ziegfeld by arrangement with its present owner, Billy Rose, who has no big musical planned for this season. They'll open offices in the theatre next Monday and proceed to work out the production details from there.

TOURNEY SLATED HERE NEXT WEEK

Softball Teams To Play In Ted Lewis Park; Juniors Scheduled

Members of the Night Softball league will participate in a tournament starting next Monday night, league officials announced Thursday.

League play will end Friday night when Williamsport and Coca Cola play off the last postponed game of the regular season. Following the game a drawing will be held to determine the tournament schedule. All managers are urged to be present Friday night to attend the drawing.

Junior teams of the city are scheduled to play preliminary games during the tournament. Only one senior game will be played each night and according to present plans a junior game will precede the adult contest. Finals of the junior tournament will be played under the lights.

League officials said that all money taken in during the tournament will be used to provide funds for a picnic for team members, sponsors and managers. The public is urged to contribute all they can to help make a successful party for the persons who have contributed entertainment all Summer.

BOXING SHOW PLANNED HERE

Boxing will return to Circleville, Friday, August 31.

The first show to be held here will feature Bob "Galento" Arthur, Columbus, and Johnny Alexander, Lima. The program is to be presented in Memorial Hall at 8:30 p. m.

Promoter of the show is Lt. Tom Arthur, Columbus, who recently returned from service in Europe with the Eighth Air Force. He was a prisoner of the Germans for 16 months. Arthur is home on leave now and is expecting an early discharge from service. He plans regular boxing shows in towns in this area.

Bob Arthur, a brother of the promoter, is called "Galento" because of his likeness to the famed New Jersey "beer barrel." He is five feet six inches tall and weighs 230 pounds. He has compiled several long winning streaks and at one time won 23

STAKE IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Do you have any questions on the San Francisco United Nations Conference on International Organization? To help the people of this country better understand the United Nations Charter and their responsibilities to world organization, the American Association for the United Nations is answering questions received reflecting the tremendous interest today and always for lasting peace.

Question: Does the Charter contain a Bill of Rights?

Answer: No, but the Charter provides for the promotion of human rights and fundamental freedoms. It will be the task of the Commission on Human Rights, provided for in the Charter, to work out an international Bill of Rights.

Question: What will happen to the League of Nations?

Answer: Undoubtedly much of the property and assets of the League of Nations will be transferred to the United Nations. The Preparatory Commission of the United Nations, meeting in London, is to make recommendations concerning the transfer of certain functions, activities, and assets of the League which it may be considered desirable for the United Nations to take over. Probably at some future date, the League of Nations Assembly will meet to vote on this transfer.

Question: Who will the judges of the International Court of Justice be?

Answer: The Court will have fifteen judges, elected by the General Assembly and the Security Council. No two can be citizens of the same nation. They will serve for a term of nine years and may be re-elected. They will be selected on the basis of their qualifications, not nationality, attention being given, however, to see that the principal legal systems of the world are represented on the Court.

Funeral Held Today For New Holland Veteran; Sailor Badly Injured

Funeral services were to be held Thursday afternoon for one New Holland man and another is in Chillicothe hospital in a "not good" condition, following an accident in which the truck they were driving struck a B. & O. train at the Whetstone crossing, seven miles west of Frankfort, at 3:20 a. m. Wednesday.

Killed, was Ivan Ater, Jr., 27, recently-discharged veteran. His companion was Gerald P. Thacker, 22, a sailor on leave from his ship, in port for repairs after being hit by a Japanese suicide plane.

Ater was killed instantly, when the motor and steering mechanism of the truck was wedged against his chest. A tank of gasoline under the seat was ignited, and he was burned beyond recognition. Thacker was thrown 25 feet from the truck when the door on his side flew open. He suffered a possible fractured skull and severe face lacerations.

Ater in the Army for five years, is a veteran of 34 months service in Europe, and has an English wife and 9-months-old baby son, who were due to arrive in the United States about October 1.

The truck in which they were driving was property of the Stewart and White garage, New Holland, where Ater was employed as a mechanic. The truck was going east at the time of the accident, and was dragged 200 feet down the track after striking the train. Patrolman R. E. Sauer, of the state highway patrol, and B. & O. police made an investigation, and Dr. R. E. Oliver, coroner of Ross county, was called. Kiever's ambulance from Washington C. H. took Thacker to Chillicothe hospital.

Ater, whose service record was longer than any in his community, is survived by his wife, Constance; baby son; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ater, Sr.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 p. m. Thursday from the Christian Union church, with the Rev. Charles Thompson officiating. Burial, with military rites accorded by Arch Post No. 477 American Legion, New Holland, will be in the New Holland cemetery under the direction of Kirkpatrick and Sons.

BALANCE BUDGET 'TO PRESERVE SOLVENCY,' BYRD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., declared today that the federal budget must be balanced soon "if we are to preserve our solvency."

Byrd, chairman of the joint Congressional economy committee, said in a statement that it was vital that every unexpended dollar appropriated for war be returned immediately to the treasury.

"If we are to preserve our solvency," he said, "it is imperative that beginning shortly the outgo of the government should not exceed the income. When a balanced budget is restored, we will increase the interest of the average citizen in the method and amount of federal expenditures."

Fifteen years of federal operation on the principle of "spend and borrow" has destroyed the tax consciousness of the average citizen, Byrd said. Taxpayers must realize, he declared, that the hope for lower taxes is to eliminate unnecessary and extravagant expenditures.

IDAHO BOARD CANCELS DRAFT CALLS FOR 27

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Aug. 23.—Induction orders for 27 registrants were returned to the files today as Twin Falls draft board No. 1 cancelled its August induction calls pending congressional action on present draft legislation.

In probably the first action of the kind in the nation, Hugh Boone, local board chairman, said that he had ordered cancellation of inductions.

Orders for 27 registrants were ready for mailing, he said, when the board members agreed to hold up further calls until congress took action.

Boone said that several other draft boards in the area similarly were expected to postpone inductions.

HAWAII RESIDENT STUDIES COUNTY FARM PROGRAM

Ohio AAA chairman, Elmer F. Kruse, and Frank King of the Hawaiian Islands were visitors at the Pickaway county AAA office to observe the farm program in this county.

Mr. King is in the county to learn what benefits the farm program has given the farmers toward building up the land, increasing harvests, etc. He is also interested in the operations of local canning factories.

Following his visit to the United States Mr. King hopes to take back to Hawaii plans and information that will help build up the soil to produce better crops.

Funeral Held Today For New Holland Veteran; Sailor Badly Injured

Funeral services were to be held Thursday afternoon for one New Holland man and another in Chillicothe hospital in a "not good" condition, following an accident in which the truck they were driving struck a B. & O. train at the Whetstone crossing, seven miles west of Frankfort, at 3:20 a. m. Wednesday.

Killed, was Ivan Ater, Jr., 27, recently-discharged veteran. His companion was Gerald P. Thacker, 22, a sailor on leave from his ship, in port for repairs after being hit by a Japanese suicide plane.

Ater was killed instantly, when the motor and steering mechanism of the truck was wedged against his chest. A tank of gasoline under the seat was ignited, and he was burned beyond recognition. Thacker was thrown 25 feet from the truck when the door on his side flew open. He suffered a possible fractured skull and severe face lacerations.

Ater in the Army for five years, is a veteran of 34 months service in Europe, and has an English wife and 9-months-old baby son, who were due to arrive in the United States about October 1.

The truck in which they were driving was property of the Stewart and White garage, New Holland, where Ater was employed as a mechanic. The truck was going east at the time of the accident, and was dragged 200 feet down the track after striking the train. Patrolman R. E. Sauer, of the state highway patrol, and B. & O. police made an investigation, and Dr. R. E. Oliver, coroner of Ross county, was called. Kiever's ambulance from Washington C. H. took Thacker to Chillicothe hospital.

Ater, whose service record was longer than any in his community, is survived by his wife, Constance; baby son; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ater, Sr.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 p. m. Thursday from the Christian Union church, with the Rev. Charles Thompson officiating. Burial, with military rites accorded by Arch Post No. 477 American Legion, New Holland, will be in the New Holland cemetery under the direction of Kirkpatrick and Sons.

BALANCE BUDGET 'TO PRESERVE SOLVENCY,' BYRD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., declared today that the federal budget must be balanced soon "if we are to preserve our solvency."

Byrd, chairman of the joint Congressional economy committee, said in a statement that it was vital that every unexpended dollar appropriated for war be returned immediately to the treasury.

"If we are to preserve our solvency," he said, "it is imperative that beginning shortly the outgo of the government should not exceed the income. When a balanced budget is restored, we will increase the interest of the average citizen in the method and amount of federal expenditures."

Fifteen years of federal operation on the principle of "spend and borrow" has destroyed the tax consciousness of the average citizen, Byrd said. Taxpayers must realize, he declared, that the hope for lower taxes is to eliminate unnecessary and extravagant expenditures.

IDAHO BOARD CANCELS DRAFT CALLS FOR 27

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Aug. 23.—Induction orders for 27 registrants were returned to the files today as Twin Falls draft board No. 1 cancelled its August induction calls pending congressional action on present draft legislation.

In probably the first action of the kind in the nation, Hugh Boone, local board chairman, said that he had ordered cancellation of inductions.

Orders for 27 registrants were ready for mailing, he said, when the board members agreed to hold up further calls until congress took action.

Boone said that several other draft boards in the area similarly were expected to postpone inductions.

HAWAII RESIDENT STUDIES COUNTY FARM PROGRAM

Ohio AAA chairman, Elmer F. Kruse, and Frank King of the Hawaiian Islands were visitors at the Pickaway county AAA office to observe the farm program in this county.

Mr. King is in the county to learn what benefits the farm program has given the farmers toward building up the land, increasing harvests, etc. He is also interested in the operations of local canning factories.

Following his visit to the United States Mr. King hopes to take back to Hawaii plans and information that will help build up the soil to produce better crops.
